Revision Of City Budget Ordered By City Council

LOWER RATE ON TAXES IS POSSIBILITY

Secret Conference is Held By Trustees and An Expert Goes Over Figures

WITMER IS UPHELD

Los Angeles Man Uses Same Figures As Councilman As Basis for Slashes

COMPLETE REVISION of the 1931-32 budget for the City of Santa Ana with reductions that may bring the tax rate as low as last year and possibly lower came as the result yesterday of a secret conference of city councilmen held in the office of A. C. Hasenjaeger. During this conference A. H. Moroso, budget expert from Los Angeles, analyzed the proposed program of city expenditures and pointed out savings that could be effected in practically every department of the city without decreasing the efficiency.

The exact amount of the reduction in the amount demanded under the original expenditure program will not be known until City Auditor Lloyd Banks has made a complete revision of the budget. This revision will be based on changes outlined by Moroso.

Yesterday's meeting was held in lieu of the regular afternoon session of the city council that is held each Monday in the council chambers and open to the public. According to attaches of the city hall there was no afternoon meeting scheduled for yesterday.

Moroso came here to confer with the councilmen after Councilman Paul Witmer, who had opposed adoption of the budget as presented two weeks ago, had presented him with a copy for analysis. Witmer, with the support of a majority of the city's taxpayers, had opposed the original expenditure on the grounds that it would increase the city's tax rate 11 cents, making it $1.93 for the fiscal year instead of the $1.82 rate in force during the past year. At last week's session of the council, Mayor John Knox also

CLAIM HIGH RATES TO BOOST PROFITS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Claiming that higher freight rates would decrease revenue instead of bringing larger profits to the railroads, California shippers today fought the plea of operators for a 15 per cent increase in tariff schedules.

A hearing on the request was being conducted by Interstate Commerce commission representatives.

Fruit growers, shippers, trade experts and bankers took the stand at yesterday's opening session.

Allan P. Matthews, counsel for the California growers' and shippers' protective league, declared "any such increase as proposed would be productive of no increased net revenue, since it would result in a very large diversion of existing rail traffic from rail carriers to the water lines."

It's never the queen of the deck who gets lost in the shuffle on shipboard.

Court Is Held On Seat Of Roller Coaster

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Superior Judge Robert H. Scott tried hard today to contemplate weighty legal matters as his coat tails whipped in the wind and his hat tried to leap from his head into the Pacific ocean.

Without so much as an "Oyez" or a "Hear ye" the superior court of Los Angeles county had convened aboard the Giant Dipper, one of the more spectacular roller coasters at Venice. The courtroom audience was comprised largely of shouting children, without a bailiff to say them nay.

Judge and jury were there to test the complaint of Frederick Barr, 18, who alleged that he was allowed to board an overcrowded car and was thrown and injured when the car started suddenly. He wants $10,200.50.

COL. LINDBERGH STILL HELD UP BY HEAVY FOGS

Indications Are That Pair Will Not Be Able to Leave Today

TOKIO, Japan, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Treacherous weather today held Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh bound to the ground within 1500 miles of the goal of their 7000-mile flight from Washington to Tokyo.

Between them and their destination were miles of fog-shrouded seas, lashed by sudden winds, and volcanic islands that would offer poor refuge in case of mishap.

The fliers hoped to take off tomorrow from Petropavlovsk for Nemuro, but the veteran aviators of the region doubted the weather would clear that soon.

At best, good flying days are few over the Kurile Islands, which the

180 SOLDIERS ARE KILLED IN REVOLT

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Bodies of 180 soldiers were brought back to Camp Columbia today from the battlefields of Santa Clara province, scene of the last fighting of the rebellion in Cuba, according to unconfirmed reports.

Further testimony as to the seriousness of the Santa Clara opposition came in reports that two airplanes left this morning with ammunition for the interior. Three planes were reported to have taken part in the Santa Clara fighting yesterday.

Six hundred soldiers were said to have left Camp Columbia yesterday for Santa Clara.

Jails at Pinar Del Rio, at the western end of the island, were reported crowded with rebel prisoners.

BRIGHT SPOTS IN BUSINESS

By UNITED PRESS

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Hubert T. Parson, president of F. W. Woolworth company, expressed an optimistic view of general business conditions on his return from Europe today.

FRANKLIN, Pa.—Chicago Railway Equipment company 18 inch mill resumed full operation today after two years of part time work. It was reported but not confirmed the company had received an order for 10,000 brake beams for Erie Railroad, the largest in three years.

WILMINGTON, Del.—E. I. DuPont De Nemours & Company today declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1 on common stock, payable September 15 to stockholders of record August 27.

YOUNGSTOWN—Steel plants in Mahoning valley started the current week at highest operations since April 27—43 percent of capacity, against 42 percent a week ago.

PITTSBURGH—South Penna Purchasing agency announced an increase of five cents a barrel on all grades of Pennsylvania crude oil.

TULSA—A crude oil price rise was expected in the midcontinent fields within 24 hours as a result of military shutdown of the region's three largest producing areas.

ST. PAUL—Increased net profits and two contracts totaling more than $20,000,000 for National Battery company were announced today by L. J. Shields, president.

RESORT RESIDENTS TURN OUT TO BATTLE BLAZING FORESTS

TROOPERS RIDE THROUGH TEXAS FLUSH FIELDS

More Than 1600 Oil Wells Shut Down By Order of Governor Sterling

LONGVIEW, Tex., Aug. 18.—(UP)—Apparently completely successful in their shutdown of more than 1600 wells in the East Texas oil field, 1200 state troopers began today the tedious task of checking every well in the four counties in which Governor Ross Sterling invoked martial law.

Divided into small groups, the men rode from derrick to derrick, making sure that the valves on every well were closed. Brigadier General Jacob F. Wolters, commandant, ordered that any producer violating the closing order be arrested.

Through silent fields where thousands of dollars worth of machinery stood idle, the troopers rode. Meanwhile nearly 10,000 oil field workers, thrown out of employment by the shutdown, loitered on the locations, or roamed the streets of the boom towns of the field which last week set an all time record for oil production, with an average daily yield of 738,000 barrels.

The troops encountered no resistance. A few workers were bitter against Governor Sterling, but in most cases operators informed the governor they would keep the men on their payrolls during the shutdown. It was not expected the martial law order would be in force more than two weeks.

Oil men throughout the state, especially those who have favored prohibition, welcomed the move which Governor Sterling announced was taken to prevent waste of vast reserves.

Governor William H. Murray of Oklahoma, who two weeks ago closed the flush fields of his state by martial law, telegraphed his personal congratulations, saying: "Your reasons are too sound to be interfered with."

"You are to be congratulated by the people of the whole mid-continent section."

No effect on crude prices was noted, but belief was general that a drastic upward revision would be made within a few days, when a shortage develops.

NEW RACKET IS Sale of Fake Wine Bricks

BOSTON, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Police were aiding with wine brick purchasers today in an effort to end the sale of fake wine bricks foisted on thousands here.

Many who purchased a brick labeled "port" got peach pie. Dozens found their sautern wine nothing but weak strawberry juice two weeks after they put it in the jug.

Investigation showed that a modern racketeer more wily than the proverbial Connecticut Yankee who started selling wooden nutmeg had flooded the city with pie filling, neatly wrapped in packages similar to wine bricks and cleaned up on the great publicity given the wine venture.

ROY TOLLESON DIRECTOR FOR CHEST DRIVE

Widely Experienced Campaign Manager Selected By Local Directors

ROY H. TOLLESON will be campaign director for this fall's effort of the Santa Ana Community Chest.

The board of directors of the Chest elected Tolleison at a special meeting held yesterday for the purpose of completing plans for the next campaign. They chose him from among an extensive list of available men, selecting him as the men best fitted to lead the local forces to success.

FARM EXPERTS HOLD PARLEYS IN SALT LAKE

Prepare to Submit Definite Proposal for Relief of Ranch Owners

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Sober faced agricultural experts, here to devise relief for needy western ranchers, prepared to submit definite proposals to the drought relief conference today.

Approximately 120 delegates from 10 states assembled yesterday to determine the exact status of western agriculture—particularly livestock—and propose relief measures.

Many plans were submitted. Some—perhaps all—will be approved. They include:

Freight rate reduction on cattle shipments to feed surplus areas; also reduction on rates on concentrated feed from the east to western drought areas.

Reduction of national forest grazing fees.

Five year moratorium on western irrigation payments.

Red Cross aid to certain sections—namely eastern Montana and central Nevada—where

MISS CRUICKSHANK WINS IN NATIONALS

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 18.—(UP)—Second round results in the 44th annual Women's National tennis singles championship included:

Helen Jacobs, Berkeley, Cal., defeated Virginia Rice, Boston, 6-0, 6-2.

Mrs. L. A. Harper, Oakland, Cal., defeated Norma Taubled, New York, 6-4, 6-3.

Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana, Cal., defeated Carolyn Roberts, New York, 6-4, 6-2.

Mrs. Dorothy Round, Great Britain, defeated Gracyn Wheeler, California, 6-1, 6-3.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, San Francisco, defeated Mary Greif, Kansas City, 6-2, 6-3.

Joan Ridley, Great Britain, defeated Ruby Bishop, Pasadena, Cal., 6-3, 4-6, 6-0.

CHILEAN PRESIDENT EXPECTED TO QUIT

SANTIAGO, Chile, Aug. 18.—(UP)—The resignation of Juan Esteban Montero, head of the government since the recent overthrow of President Carlos Ibanez, was expected today.

Montero, who has held the title of vice president, has accepted nomination as a candidate for president in the forthcoming elections.

CROWN PRINCE OFF ON VACATION TODAY

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The Prince of Wales left for France on a holiday today, after having canceled his departure originally scheduled for yesterday.

The prince left in a private airplane at 10:25 a. m.

Cancellation of his departure yesterday caused circulation of a report that the prince had given up his vacation temporarily because of Great Britain's financial emergency.

GRAF ZEPPELIN ON JOURNEY TO LONDON

PARIS, Aug. 18.—(UP)—The Graf Zeppelin passed over Gray, a town in Haute Saone, northeastern France, at 11:17 a. m. on the way to England on a pleasure cruise.

Gray is about 30 miles northeast of Dijon.

The Graf Zeppelin was fighting bad weather over northern France, necessitating a change in its course to the British Isles.

A radio from the big German airship said the route would be over Chalon Sur Marne and Amiens.

Lightning Sets Many Idaho Fires

Western Montana, Eastern Washington Also Report Blazes

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 18.—Lightning storms which hit the inland empire last night started scores of new fires in eastern Washington, central Idaho and western Montana and crews of men were rushed to new fronts today to halt the advance of flames through green timber.

Liberty Lake, a summer resort 20 miles east of here, was the scene of an all-night blaze during which residents of the entire summer colony turned out to battle for their homes.

As the flames swept nearer, cottagers backed their household goods into rowboats and took to the middle of the lake. Fire equipment, rushed from Spokane, aided in the battle and all of the expensive summer homes were saved. A number of small cabins farther back in the timber were destroyed.

At one the situation is improved with a changing wind driving the fire back upon itself. Yesterday, at one time, the blaze was within a half mile of the town and for 48 hours residents remained "packed up" ready to flee should the fire enter the town.

Seven fires which started along four miles of highway near Newport, north of here, were credited to firebugs. A crew of 75 men had the fires under control today.

One of the most dangerous fires in this section is at Murphy Roy on Lake Pend Oreille near Sandpoint, Idaho. Swept beyond control by high winds during the night, the blaze was threatening a score of ranches today. Ranchers, joined by crews of men from Sandpoint, are fighting desperately to halt the advance of flames along a six-mile front.

NAVAL BOARD WILL PROBE INTO DEATH

VALLEJO, Calif., Aug. 18.—(UP)—A naval board prepared today to investigate the death of Belme Saunders Bullard Jr., 18, a Vallejo high school football player, who was killed by a rifle bullet at his home last night.

The youth, according to his father, a lieutenant commander in the navy, had returned from practice and went to his room. A few minutes later the shot was heard and the boy's body found. He still clasped the rifle.

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Aug. 19.—[To the Editor of The Register:] Wasn't much happened over the week-end outside of Texas put on a little earthquake which California papers brought up to giant proportions. Winston Churchill made the front page by hanging on to Bernard Shaw's whiskers and Nancy Astor's petticoat. He is stepping out of his class of wits with those two. He has misfit into too many prominent positions in England to shoot at those two successes. Borah says that France is better off than any nation today. ### ESTELLE WILL FILE SUIT IN LOS ANGELES

Eight Specified Acts Will Be Charged in Divorce Suit Late Today

BULLETIN

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Answering a similar suit filed by Jack Dempsey in Reno yesterday, his wife, Estelle Taylor, today sued the former heavyweight champion for divorce here.

The actress, in her complaint, accused Dempsey of extreme cruelty. His Nevada suit charged her with mental cruelty.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—(UP)—A divorce suit charging Jack Dempsey with eight specific acts of cruelty was ready for filing late today by attorneys representing Estelle Taylor.

Dempsey's action in seeking a Nevada decree after yesterday was characterized by Miss Taylor's attorneys as a "display of temperment." They said this was especially true because efforts to bring about an amicable property

BLAME COMMUNISM FOR COAL WARFARE

HARLAN, Ky., Aug. 18.—(UP)—Authorities of Harlan county are waging open warfare upon "Communism" blamed for numerous murders in the southeast Kentucky coal fields, they declare.

Coinciding with the trial of some 30 defendants on charges of murder—for which commonwealth's attorney W. A. Brock announced he would demand the death penalty—Superior Judge D. C. Jones called upon the incoming grand jury to launch a vigorous investigation of "communistic propaganda."

OPPOSE FLIGHT OF PANGBORN, HERNDON

TOKIO, Aug. 18.—(UP)—The Aviation society today continued its refusal to grant Clyde E. Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, Jr., American aviators, permission to attempt a flight to the United States.

The death toll reached 14. Other casualties were feared. Sailing boats were overdue. Damage to crops and buildings was great.

Colonel C. H. Hudson, wealthy amateur yachtsman, was among the dead. He was washed overboard from the deck of the Maitenes II during the Fastnet races.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Gales caused 14 deaths in Switzerland in the last two days, a check today showed.

STATE OPENS ARGUMENTS BEFORE JURY

Former Associate and Personal Friend of Defendant Begins Attack

CASE NEARING END

Expected Arguments to Be Ended and Fate Left Up to Jury Wednesday

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—(UP)—One of his former associates and close friends today asked a jury of seven women and five men to send David H. Clark, young attorney, to the gallows for the slaying of Herbert Spencer, editor of a political magazine.

The defendant, himself a former prosecutor for the district attorney's office, sat quietly and apparently unmoved as he heard Deputy District Attorney A. H. Van Cott ask indirectly but unmistakably for the death penalty.

Van Cott opened the final arguments of the state by saying that it was not as easy thing for him to speak against Clark, who admitted he shot both Spencer and Charles Crawford, a boss politician, but who is charged only with Spencer's murder.

"I am one of the oldest members of the district attorney's office," Van Cott said, "and while I was not brought into contact with Dave Clark socially, he was a fellow member of the district attorney's staff for years."

Painful Duty

Van Cott then read from the autobiography of Theodore Roosevelt, the following quotation:

"One of the most painful duties of a chief executive of the nation is the refusing of pardons in cases of capital punishment. There are times when one must steel his heart and throw out all sympathy, in order to do what is just and right."

"And I feel," Van Cott said in finishing the quotation, "that in this case before you, you jurors are in much the same position as the chief executive of the United States, when he must let a convicted man go to the gallows without intervening."

Clark, whose steadiness and poise have caused continual comment at his trial, gave no evidence that the reference to the gallows bothered him. He sat quietly in his chair, alternately watching Van Cott and the jurors.

Just behind Clark was his beautiful blonde wife, Nancy. In contrast to her appearance during the

WEALTHY JAPANESE IMPORTER IS DEAD

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Murder on the high seas or suicide are believed responsible for disappearance of a wealthy Japanese silk importer and businessman while on a "show boat" cruise with his young daughter and her pretty showgirl governess.

His body is sought by coast guard patrols and police. It is believed to be near Ambrose Channel, about 30 miles at sea.

Business associates of Hisahiko Furumura, whose Japanese wife and boy live at Norwalk, Conn., asked the search be made after failure of the merchant to check in on return of the Red Star liner Belgenland to port Friday.

HIGH WINDS CAUSE DEATHS IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Aug. 18.—(UP)—High winds and torrential rain, sweeping the British Isles, caused the worst floods in Selkirkshire today, resulting in loss of life and wide property damage.

The death toll reached 14. Other casualties were feared. Sailing boats were overdue. Damage to crops and buildings was great.

Colonel C. H. Hudson, wealthy amateur yachtsman, was among the dead. He was washed overboard from the deck of the Maitenes II during the Fastnet races.

human suffering this winter is inevitable.

Extension of credit permitting farmers to obtain seed for fall and spring crops.

Credit extension to livestockmen for purchase of feed to tide over the winter—otherwise, stockmen throughout would be forced to liquidate even their breeding stock.

Diversion of the balance of the federal drought relief fund of last year—$10,000,000—of last year to meet the emergency in western states.

Harry Adams, San Francisco, president of the Western Pacific, told the conference he was convinced railroads were prepared to co-operate with farmers and livestock men.

"I have no doubt," Adams asserted, "that all lines will be glad to entertain proposals of delegations asking for relief in view of the depressed situation. Emergency rates are now being considered by the Western Pacific and the Southern Pacific."

R. E. Kelly, Southern Pacific official said, "We are working with you because if you fail, we fail to that extent."

Explosion Victim Buried Tomorrow

Funeral services for William Gleason, 32, Santa Ana mechanic, who died of burns received in a heat explosion in Newport bay early Sunday morning, will be held at 8:30 a. m. tomorrow at the St. Joseph Catholic church. Burial will be made in Calvary cemetery.

Death was due to an accident, according to a verdict returned by a coroner's jury, in an inquest over the body at the Harrell and Brown funeral parlors at 10:30 today. The jury found that Gleason died of second degree burns, received when an explosion occurred on a boat where he was working.

LIONS' COUNCIL PARLEYS OVER CONCLAVE PLAN

Details of the Lions International convention to be held in Los Angeles July 19 to 22, 1931, were discussed at the meeting of the Orange county council of Lions clubs which met at Orange last night for a 6:30 o'clock dinner at the American Legion clubhouse. Luther Mack, past president of the Los Angeles Lions club, who heads the pre-convention registration committee was present with Perry Woods also of Los Angeles.

Mack stressed the importance of a 100 per cent registration of club members of Southern California before the convention and appointed E. M. "Sunny" Sundquist and Ivan Swanger to take charge of this registration in Orange county.

The registration is to begin as soon as possible it was said.

Sundquist is to have charge of registrations for Garden Grove, Laguna Beach, Santa Ana and Costa Mesa as well as of San Diego and North Park, San Diego. Swanger will have charge of the Orange, Anaheim, Fullerton and Brea clubs. The Orange county council has about 276 members it was said and the two San Diego clubs, 150.

About 50 were present at last night's meeting and Ray Thompson of Fullerton presided. District No. 7 will hold their annual convention at Los Angeles on July 18, 1932, one day previous to the international convention, it was announced.

sessions when testimony was being given, she seemed quite at ease and not very despondent.

The courtroom was crowded with movie picture players and local celebrities. Jimmy Gleason, Carmel Myers and Mary Brian were among those present.

The case is expected to reach the jury late Wednesday.

Both sides rested unexpectedly late yesterday. Only five witnesses went to the stand for the defense and the testimony of Clark alone was important.

Legal Points

Van Cott outlined the legal points of the case stating that it was necessary for the state to show that Clark killed Crawford and that the jury then must be satisfied that the slaying was done with malice aforethought.

"Since the defendant has admitted that he killed Spencer the burden now switches to him and makes it mandatory for him to prove that he shot in self-defense as he claims," Van Cott said.

"It is for you the jurors to analyze his story of the crime and to determine whether Clark pulled the trigger of his gun in self defense or with malice aforethought."

Van Cott said that one of the most salient facts in Clark's story on the witness stand was his admission that when he took his gun from the place he hid it after the shootings that it was rusty.

"Clark said he turned that rusty gun over to his attorneys," Van Cott said, "yet when it reached this courtroom it was as clean as the day it was made."

"I can not but believe, ladies and gentlemen, that the gun was clean because Clark wished to use the theory that he was not present in Crawford's office the afternoon of the shooting. I must tell you that I believe that when he learned of the many witnesses who saw him at the scene that he changed his mind and decided on self-defense."

Scots Threats

Van Cott said he could not seriously consider Clark's statement that he was threatened by Spencer and that this threat led Clark to buy a gun.

"In the first place, Spencer was friendly to Clark (Clark testified differently) and it probably merely was a friendly warning more than a threat," Van Cott said.

"Secondly, Clark admittedly was a great friend of Chief of Police Steckel and a half dozen other important peace officers. He had but to ask for protection and he would have received it."

Van Cott said it was not natural for a man who had shot in self defense to fail to surrender immediately to the police. He pointed out that it was not until late the night after the shooting that Clark gave himself up.

The prosecutor discounted the defense claim that Crawford drew a gun on Clark.

"No guns were found on the premises and no guns were taken away from the premises," he said, "and if friends of Crawford's had taken any guns away then would not they have brought them into court to show no bullet had been fired from them?"

MURDER COUNT FILED AGAINST DRIVER OF CAR

A charge of murder was placed against Oswald Lee Ivey, 22-year-old Beverly Hills youth, here yesterday, in connection with the death on the Coast highway several days ago of Ollie H. Lehman, a flagman, working for a construction company.

Lehman was killed when he was struck by an automobile alleged to have been driven by Ivey. Ivey was arrested by San Clemente police and lodged in jail here. He was accused at the time of driving his car while under the influence of liquor.

Late yesterday the district attorney filed murder charges against the youth and he was arraigned before Justice Kenneth Morrison. His preliminary examination was set for September 3 at 8 a. m. and bail of $20,000 was demanded.

Ivey was still in jail here today, not having raised the bail money.

settlement had been under way for several months.

As soon as word was received of the Reno suit, Miss Taylor conferred with Joseph Scott, her attorney, and drew up her complaint to be filed here today.

Where Dempsey charged "mental cruelty" without definitely specifying the acts, Miss Taylor charged "cruelty" and listed as two of the eight acts the removal of her automobile by Dempsey's brother, Joe, and his filing of the Nevada divorce suit. The other six acts were not specified.

"I am terribly sorry that Jack has seen fit to do a thing like this, right at a time when the attorneys were negotiating for a settlement," Miss Taylor said. "I had asked for so little, but now that he has started things, I'll finish them."

"I know we are in for a real fight to the finish, but I am prepared. I know Jack only too well, so I have made up my mind to expect anything."

Scott, in a prepared statement, said he was "protecting" Miss Taylor's rights in bringing a California action which he said "will be far better secured by California courts than would have been by the property settlement wherein she made such large concessions."

It was said Miss Taylor had agreed to give Dempsey his freedom if he would pay off a mortgage on her Hollywood home, pay off the balance on the expensive automobile, and pay the balance of Scott's fees, a total sum estimated at $40,000. This was to be paid off within two years, it was learned.

Scott indicated he would attack the validity of Dempsey's suit in the Reno courts on the ground the former heavyweight champion established residence in Nevada for the sole purpose of securing a divorce.

indicated his willingness to vote for the $1.82 rate.

Witmer, in opposing adoption of the original figure contended that allowances had been made for considerable unnecessary work in the city during the coming year. He contended that this work should be held in abeyance for at least one year until taxpayers had recovered from the business depression of the past year and a half.

During the conference yesterday Morasco went over the proposed budget item by item and his recommendations coincided with the report of possible reductions read at the meeting of city council one week ago by Councilman Witmer.

Witmer's report was presented at that time on motion of Councilman J. L. McBride. McBride's motion for Witmer to present a written report followed Witmer's opposition to the original budget.

While the exact amount of the reduction to be effected through Bank's revision of the budget is not known at present it is the general opinion that it will approximate the more than $30,000 shown indicated as possible in Witmer's report.

UNITED BRETHREN NAME DELEGATES

Holding their fourth and last quarterly meeting of the year last night in the church, members of the United Brethren church elected delegates for the state convention to be held in Long Beach August 25-30.

L. C. Morgan was chosen first delegate, while R. L. Hager, J. H. Noble and Robert Emerson were elected to represent the religious educational departments including adults, young people and children's groups. The Rev. R. W. Harlow, pastor of the United Brethren church here, and Mrs. Harlow, also will attend the convocation.

The Rev. T. W. Ringland presided at last night's meeting, following the business session with a short talk.

ANAHEIM IS GIVEN EXTRA PRECINCTS

The board of supervisors at its morning session today authorized the transfer of two precincts to be added to those in Anaheim. The precincts are number two and number 19 and represent territory recently annexed by the city of Anaheim.

Under the county government act the board transferred $2500 into a special fund for the sheriff, as specified in the act.

It also refused to grant a dance hall license to Henry and Helen Steddes, who sought permission to operate a dance in the old Bear cafe building near Westminster. The board pointed out that the building is unsuitable for such purposes inasmuch as it does not have enough windows.

Select Jury For Grand Theft Case

Juan Rodriguez, charged with grand theft of an automobile, faced a jury today in Superior Judge G. K. Scott's court as his trial opened. Selection of the jury was quickly accomplished by Deputy District Attorney Leo Fris and the defense attorney, J. H. Hearn.

The car which Rodriguez is accused of stealing belonged to Mrs. Blanche Wisner, of Garden Grove, and is said to have been stolen on June 20.

Lindberghs must pass, and at this season conditions are most hazardous.

It was on the Kuriles that the young Japanese flier, Seki Yoshihara, wrecked his plane when lost in a fog during a projected flight from Japan to the United States this summer.

Fishermen familiar with the Kamchatka peninsula region and the Kuriles said the couple might be held at Petropavlovsk indefinitely.

The distance from Petropavlovsk to Nemuro is 800 miles and from Nemuro to Tokyo 600 miles.

Poor visibility in the region is the rule rather than the exception. Swiftly striking storms are a constant menace to those who venture out from the neighboring lands.

Residents of Nemuro went ahead, however, with plans to welcome the couple within a day or two.

A spectacle of the welcome will be the 5000 home-made American flags waved by as many school children, who will rush to the waterfront when word is received that the fliers are about to arrive.

Despite the delay of the Lindberghs, Tokio's plans for their reception will remain unchanged. The program was arranged for the day and subsequent days of their arrival, instead of for any specific time.

GENERAL ELECTRIC ALL-STEEL REFRIGERATOR

Your Food Dollars Will Buy Your General Electric

Use "Self-Payment Plan"

$10 DOWN - $10 A MONTH

IN 1929 it was fashionable to be extravagant. In 1931 it's smart to be thrifty. And that's exactly why thousands of Southern California families bought their General Electrics last month! A large proportion bought their General Electrics on the Self-Payment Plan. They will not need to take a penny from the bank account nor add to the family budget.

If careful food buying can save you $2.31 a week, your General Electric will not cost you a cent. Write for free price charts and menus which show how easy it is to make these savings. Or ask at our store. Be thrifty today and select your General Electric. Tomorrow it will be earning dollars for you in your kitchen.

See this famous refrigerator at our store. Come in today, or if more convenient, telephone and a courteous representative will call.

Select YOUR Refrigerator CAREFULLY!

A GOOD Refrigerator, like Good furniture, is a Permanent, Slow-Depreciating INVESTMENT.

Your Electric Refrigerator, if you select GOOD one, need not be replaced for many, many years.

Select one Ruggedly Built, with Evident Lasting Qualities.

Select one made by a Financially Strong and Well Known Manufacturer who assures you of his responsibility by giving you a WRITTEN GUARANTEE.

Be sure the Manufacturer of YOUR Refrigerator will be in business to Back His Claims and Serve YOUR interests as long as you need Refrigeration.

GEORGE MUNRO PASSES TODAY IN SANITARIUM

Santa Ana today is mourning the death of one of the city's most prominent citizens, George F. Munro, who passed away at the Loma Linda Sanitarium this morning after an illness of short duration. He was born in Wilkesbarre, Pa., in 1881, and spent his boyhood days in Westchester, Iowa.

Munro moved to Santa Ana in 1922 with his family when, after a short time, he became a director of the Santa Ana Building and Loan and a director and manager of the Interstate Finance company of Santa Ana. For 21 years he was a leading grocer in Omaha, Neb., and for eight years a city councilman and chairman of the board of public works of Omaha.

During another 10 years of his life in the business world he was associated with Hugh Murphy of Omaha and Denver during which time the two men did most of the street paving in Omaha and Lincoln, Neb., and much of it in Denver, Colo.

The climax in his eventful career was probably reached when for three years during the war he was food administrator for the state of Nebraska.

He is survived by his widow, Emily Munro, a son, George F. Munro Jr., and two daughters, Margaret and Gene Munro, all of Santa Ana.

Munro had been a member of the Presbyterian church for many years.

While no definite arrangements have been made for the funeral services, the remains were brought to the Smith and Tutill Funeral home today and it was announced that services would probably be conducted Thursday.

POLICE LOOK FOR PROWLER

Police were called to the home of C. N. Grace, 1231 French street early last night, when a prowler was reported seen in the yard. He also attempted to enter a rear door, it was reported. The man was not found.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

Your eyes are not fitted to see far ahead. If you spend your time peering into the future, you will miss the opportunities and the blessings right at hand. You know that your goal is the mountaintop. Keep climbing; do not stand gazing upward and wishing the path were easier and shorter.

Ultimate attainment comes from going up. Let tomorrow take care of themselves; make the most of today.

The last report of Mallory and Irvine, who strove to climb Mt. Everest, should be true of you: "When last seen they were going strong for the top."

GLEASON—Funeral services for William E. Gleason, under the direction of Harrell and Brown, will be held tomorrow, at 2:30 at St. Joseph Catholic Church, Interment in Calvary Cemetery, Los Angeles.

SMITH—At her home, 515 E. Washington, Aug. 17, 1931, Emma G. Smith, aged 55 years. Wife of H. F. Smith and mother of Mrs. Anthony Carlson of Los Angeles; Raymond Howland of Fresno; Clinton Howland, of Santa Ana, and Mrs. Fred Allen, of Los Angeles. Notice of funeral will be given later by Smith and Tutthill.

MUNRO—At Loma Linda, Calif., Aug. 18, 1931, George F. Munro, of 178 Bush St. Notice of funeral will be announced later by Smith and Tutthill.

COUNTY SCHOOL RATE CUT, NOT TO ALTER CITY

The economy program put into effect by the schools of Orange county, through their total budget requests will be reduced by $195,000 and which will make possible a tax rate cut, probably will not affect the Santa Ana system materially because of a surplus on hand which can be used to make up the loss in income.

In schools where there is no such surplus on which to draw, the thrift measure will affect the amount available for general maintenance and supplies. Salaries already have been fixed and allowed.

Outside Rate Cut

The retrenchment move will make possible a reduction in the tax rate outside incorporated cities from $2.12 to $1.94 and inside cities from $1.67 to $1.54. The outside rate reduction would include a five cent cut in the general road fund, which also affects road districts two to five, inclusive. This would leave the road rate at 40 cents, where it was last year.

Actual rates in the school rates would be from $4.44 to $3.38 for the elementary schools and from $3.31 to $2.35 for the high school districts.

City Income Higher

The cut is possible under state law through a reduction in the amount apportioned by County School Superintendent Ray Adkinson for each pupil in average daily attendance. The cut will leave the apportionment still equal to the amount required by law.

In Santa Ana the actual income was approximately $30,000 larger this year than it was estimated when the tentative budget was compiled. The school board has planned to use part of this surplus and has made possible a nine cent tax rate reduction with another part. Unless the cut just announced is larger than preliminary estimates showed it to be today, there still will be enough in this surplus to take care of the reduced income.

Anaheim Scouts Take Honors At Swimming Meet

Members of the swimming team from Anaheim district of Boy Scouts walked off with the honors when they met entrants from District 5, composed of troops in Fullerton, Placentia, La Habra and Brea in a district swimming meet held last night in the municipal plunge in Anaheim city park.

Anaheim district ran up a total of 47 points while the other district emerged with a total of 26 points.

Grand Brown, of Troop 31 of Fullerton, was acclaimed high point man with a total of 13 points taken with two first prizes and one second prize. Roy Hill of Placentia troop 100 was second with 10 points.

Ribbons were awarded to all Scouts who placed in the various events. "Tex" Middleton and Vern Cruzen were in charge of the meet while the judges were Fred Nunlist, Gil Hemmer, and Christy T. Allen.

Anaheim district is awaiting word from the coast district in answer to a challenge issued by the Anaheim Scouts.

Court Notes

Charged with speeding, George E. Cowan, 401 West J street, Ontario, was fined $10 in the city police court today, on a speeding charge.

Four men were fined $15 each in Judge J. G. Mitchell's city court yesterday on drunk charges. They were arrested over the week end here and were: Wesson Truss, A. Owens, Richard White and Paul Winkler.

E. B. Trickey and R. C. Cook each were fined $1 in police court yesterday on overtime parking charges.

James S. Campbell has brought suit for divorce against Endora Campbell, charging desertion. They have one child and the complaint asked that its custody be given to the father and mother for equal periods. They were married in 1914 and separated last year.

Local Briefs

Announcement was made today by Col. S. H. Finley that the citizens committee of the Metropolitan Water District will hold an open meeting in the council chambers at the city hall on Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

A family dinner will be served by Santa Ana Lodge 149 of the Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters at the lodge rooms, Fifth and Broadway tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. Dancing and card playing will follow the dinner and a four piece Hawaiian orchestra will furnish music. The meeting will be open to the public.

Mrs. S. E. Pelston, 62, of 801 North Ross street, was reported injured in an automobile accident here yesterday at North Flower street and the Santa Ana boulevard, according to a report received at the Santa Ana police department.

George Balch, 21, and Wilma Smith, 13, both of Anaheim, have applied for a marriage license in Riverside.

FARM BUREAU OFFICERS AND CENTER PRESIDENTS ENDORSE BASIC COUNTY TAX POLICIES

Basic county tax policies endorsed by the Orange County Farm Bureau board of directors were given an additional boost last night when 37 officers of the Farm Bureau and presidents of farm centers in the county met in the Santa Ana cafe for the purpose of discussing the county budget and hearing recommendations made by the tax committee after a year's exhaustive study.

The basis of the recommended tax report was formulated by members of the farm bureau tax committee. Members of the committee are Leroy Lyons, chairman, Felton Browning, Ross Shafer and J. A. Smiley.

Following are the eight points worked out by the committee and which were endorsed at last night's meeting:

Basis of Assessing Road Costs

The value of the use of roads and the appreciation of value of adjoining property represents the factors which should determine the extent to which the gasoline tax (which is recognized throughout California and the nation as the fairest and the most equitable means of taxing use) and the direct property tax, (the justification for which lies in increased property values) should each pay towards the total cost of road, highway and bridge construction and upkeep.

The county should pay for roads through cities. Through county roads passing through incorporated cities in Orange county should receive the same financial and other assistance from the gasoline and other general road funds of Orange county, within such incorporated city limits as would be given to such road on construction outside of incorporated city limits.

The county is well supplied with a system of improved roads, which are keeping well abreast with the progress and development of Orange county; and, the committee recognizes that the development of roads has been an important factor in the advancement of this county.

Future Reductions

While present funds, to a considerable extent, have been pledged and projects planned which do not allow a drastic cut at the present time, it appears from the figures at hand that because of the rapid development which has been maintained in the past that the time is not far distant when road expenditures may be reduced.

In the past 11 years the unincorporated area of Orange county has paid $8,952,093.75 (71 1/2 per cent) in direct property tax of the money used in the development and maintenance of the county road system. It has also paid a considerable proportion of the gas tax and auto license fees, the total gas tax received by the county being $2,239,573.05 (17 per cent) for the period under consideration. In view of these facts it is evident that a major portion of the tax burden on rural property should be shifted from a direct tax on property to a tax based on the use of roads.

We endorse the plan developed by Von T. Ellsworth of the tax research department of the California farm bureau federation and adopted by the California farm bureau federation, in which it is recommended that an additional one cent tax on gasoline be added to the present California gas tax with an express provision in the bill, which would provide that this money so raised and collected would be allocated back to the counties in some equitable manner, so that the use of the highways would be given major consideration, and that the money so collected would replace funds now raised from direct property tax.

Oppose Special Districts

The formation of special districts should be strenuously discouraged in that such districts tend to force unjustified expenditures and is a constant source of tax inequity. An educational program be inaugurated among our farm center meetings and wherever else it may be possible, in order that this program may be carried into effect.

Some discussion on the cut in the county schools budget was held, but no action was taken by the officers. Officers endorsed the holding of an official Muster day program to be held at Irvine park on September 25 at the meeting. The day is to be set aside throughout the nation for observance by those interested in agricultural pursuits.

PLAN OUTING FOR REGISTER CARRIER BOYS

City carrier boys of the Santa Ana Register who have carried the news of numerous plagues and outbreaks of the summer to the thousands of subscribers they serve, will be the happy participants in a big picnic to be held tomorrow at Irvine park. The paper will go to press early and the boys will complete their rounds as quickly as possible in order to be back at the Register office at 4 o'clock, where busses from the Motor Transit line will be waiting to take the 80 boys to the park.

Games of various kinds will precede the "eats" which are to include hot dogs, ice cream, pop, potato chips and cake. A baseball game will be one of the events of the afternoon and those not on the teams are to take part in a football game which will be in progress at the same time.

Some time past the carriers have been divided in two groups in a subscription contest. The contest closed last night and it was found that group No. 2, with Bob Biles as captain, was the winning group. A. Bergesetter, captain of group No. 1 is hoping that members of his side will be victors in the baseball game, as both the winners in the subscription contest and the members of the side having the winning ball team, are to be presented with prizes.

General arrangements for the affair are to be in charge of R. M. Conklin, circulation manager.

Pest Control Is Radio Talk Topic

Speaking over radio station KREG, D. W. Tubbs, deputy agricultural commissioner for Orange county, last night recommended a program of pest control for citrus growers. In his talk Tubbs stressed the importance of immediate action to control the various menaces to production.

Recommendations made by Tubbs were in line with information secured through a recent survey of groves in this district. This survey was conducted by inspectors from the agricultural office.

The last event climaxing the afternoon and evening program will be three 30-minute talks by leaders of each of the three-fold parts of the Farm Bureau plan for putting agriculture on a permanent and prosperous basis.

List Speakers

Tentative subjects and speakers are: R. W. Blackburn, state president, who is to talk on general Farm Bureau organization methods; Prof. B. H. Crocherson, director of agricultural extension work of the University of California who will speak on the work accomplished by the organization and C. C. Teague, president of the California Fruit Growers Exchange and the California Walnut Growers association, who will give an address on the efficient marketing and distributing of farm products. Teague was formerly a member of the Federal Farm Board.

Over 1000 people are expected to be attracted to the event.

PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, Aug. 18.—Following choir practice Friday evening, members of the Calvary church choir held a party at the church in observance of the birthday anniversary of Gene Young. Ice cream and cake were served and Don Milligan and Thelma Green provided music.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Welch and children, June and David, of Carlsbad were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Copeland.

The eldest son, Darrel, has been a guest at the Copeland home for two weeks, while attending Calvary church Bible school, and returned home with his parents Sunday evening.

Council Acts To Clear Up Tangle

Two motions by City Councilman E. G. Warner, last night, cleared up a situation that had been hanging fire for one week and brought the matter of city advertising down out of the air.

Last week all bids for printing of city advertising for the next year were rejected and new bids called for but it was down through a motion and an amendment. After the meeting it was revealed that while the amendment to the motion had been carried the original motion had never been voted upon leaving the board with an amendment to a motion that did not exist.

Y OFFERS LAST SWIM CLASSES: START MONDAY

The final opportunity for this vacation season for boys to learn to swim in special lessons at the Y. M. C. A. is offered by Physical Director R. R. Russick in a class which will start next Monday.

Boys over 8 years of age and under 14 will be accepted for this class. Only boys who are unable to swim at all will be admitted. Russick particularly requests that boys who can swim a little do not attempt to register as he will be compelled to refuse them places in the class, which is for beginners only.

Advance reservations for places in the class may be made this week by telephoning or calling at the Y. M. C. A. The instruction will be started on Monday and will continue on Wednesday and Friday, by which time most of the boys should be able to swim across the pool.

There is no charge for the instruction. Any boy who cannot swim and who is of the required age may take the work, up to the limit of the number that can be handled.

Russick has taught more than 200 boys to swim this season in his short-term courses. About 85 per cent of all the boys taking the instruction have learned to keep themselves afloat. His final class, starting next Monday, will accommodate 50 boys, and the rule will be "first come, first served."

Y FAMILY CAMP SCHEDULED TO START FRIDAY

The Y. M. C. A. Family Camp at Oseola opens next Friday, when the Girl Reserves complete their stay at the camp, and move out to make room for the families.

A truck will leave the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. at 6:30 on Friday morning, taking baggage and passengers. Any prospective campers who need transportation either for themselves or for their belongings may arrange for it by phoning the Y. M. C. A. office. It is expected that most of these guests will have their own transportation, but as the truck must go to bring out the girls, arrangements have been made to provide the transportation for those who desire it. Advance reservations must be made. Baggage to be taken by the truck must be at the Y. M. C. A. not later than Thursday evening.

A number of families and groups from various parts of Orange county are planning to enjoy the family week at Oseola.

There is room for others to be accommodated, for either the entire week, or for such part of it as they may choose.

NEIGHBORHOOD ROW AIRED IN COURT

A neighborhood row led into Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today with the trying of the case of Arrie White, charged with exhibiting a weapon "in an angry and rude manner and not in self defense." The weapon was a shotgun, which was alleged to have been drawn on Mrs. Helen Yates and her husband during an argument between the two families.

Testimony in the case was heard throughout the greater part of the morning and the case was continued until this afternoon when it is expected to be finished.

The alleged offense occurred on August 2, according to the complaint. Witnesses told how Mrs. White emerged from her house with a shotgun tucked under her arm and held it in the general direction of the Yates family, part of the time with the stock to her shoulder and her left arm along the barrel in shooting position.

The Yates family lives at 1124 West Highland street and the Whites at 1129 West Highland street.

John Knox Only Democrat Mayor

Santa Ana has many distinctions among Orange county cities and today another one appeared when it was discovered that this city has the only democratic mayor in the county in the person of John Knox.

The California democratic central committee wrote to County Clerk J. M. Backs for a list of democratic mayors in the county. Backs furnished it.

Drunk Man Runs Arm Through Pane

Running their arms through window panes is one bad habit drunken men have, according to the Orange county hospital, and that is why Santiago Leon, of El Modena, was a patient in the hospital for a short time early last night.

He suffered a badly lacerated right arm, cut when he drove his fist through a window at his home, it was reported. Orange police took the man to the hospital.

Murder Failure But Authorities Confiscate Beer

A murder near Cypress early last night turned out to be a fizzle in every respect, but Sheriff Logan Jackson and Deputy Earl Nickles, who rushed to the place to recover the "body" and arrest the killer were rewarded just the same.

They came back with three dozen bottles of beer and one P. R. Espinosa, 48, alleged owner of the beer, whom they are holding in the county jail on a charge of possession of liquor.

The liquor was found in a gum grove in about the spot where another Mexican was reported murdered.

The murder call came into the sheriff's office from a Mexican who reported there had been a lot of shooting in the gum grove and he was sure his partner had been killed in the battle.

The "murdered" man was found safely in bed, properly tucked in, and sound asleep.

Arrest Ordered On Bench Warrant

A bench warrant was issued today for Roy L. Howell, charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, following Howell's failure to appear to answer to the charge in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court at 8 a. m. today.

Bail of $500 had been put up by Howell for his appearance and this was ordered forfeited.

Howell is alleged to have been driving his car while under the influence of liquor on August 2, on South Main street. The complaint in the case is signed by Walter E. Jordan.

Complete 10 Per Cent Road Work

Approximately 10 per cent of the work of grading and paving the road from Serra to the San Diego county line, provided for in the biennial budget of the state, has been completed, it was revealed today.

The job will cost about $382,500.

Widening of the Santa Ana river bridge on the Coast highway between Huntington Beach and Newport Beach is about one-fourth done. The cost will be about $80,000.

Little Ohio Visitor Is Honored Guest At Luncheon

Master David Carmichael Jr. and his brother, Douglas West Carmichael, were hosts at a pretty little affair Saturday when they entertained at a luncheon given in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Carmichael, 1311 North Garnsey street.

Little Miriam Pitschner, of Akron, Ohio, was the honored guest. Together with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pitschner, she is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pitschner, 1423 North Garnsey street.

The appetizing menu was planned to conform to a pink color scheme and included in the desert course strawberry ice cream, pink cake and pink lemonade. Dainty pink blossoms were used for decorations.

The little group of guests, included in addition to the honoree, Miriam Pitschner, Eleanor May Dietrich, Phyllis Grizzle, Charles Bressler, Wells Bressler, the hosts, David and Douglas Carmichael and their mother, Mrs. David Carmichael.

Birthday Celebrated With Family Luncheon

The home of Mrs. Minnie M. Holmes, 903 North Sycamore St., was the setting for a pleasant affair Sunday when Mrs. Max Holmes of 421 Linwood avenue, and Mrs. Elton G. Holmes of Newport road, daughters-in-law of Mrs. Holmes, were co-hostesses at a charmingly appointed 2 o'clock luncheon.

The occasion marked the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Minnie M. Holmes, and the delectable menu included such tempting dishes as baked ham, and apple pie with whipped cream. The honoree was presented with many gifts by her children and grandchildren.

Those sharing the happy day with Mrs. Holmes were Miss Mildred Holmes, daughter of the home, Mr. and Mrs. Max Holmes and daughters, Mary and Jane, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Elton G. Holmes and daughter and son, Kathleen and Robert, and Mrs. Elton G. Holmes' father, R. E. McCaghy, all of Tustin.

Club Officers Elected At Picnic Meeting In Bixby Park

Cotton Bennett of Ocean avenue was chosen to serve as president of a club organized yesterday in Long Beach, when nearly 100 former students and teachers of the John E. Brown schools in Sileam Springs, Ark., together with their families and friends, met for a picnic at Bixby park.

This was the first get-together meeting of young people who have attended or who expect to attend the Brown schools. During yesterday's business session other officers elected were William McPhee of Fullerton, secretary and treasurer, and Calvin Brown, brother of the evangelist, business manager. Stanley Newton and Clinton Selby of Irvine and Mrs. Marie Colburn of Long Beach are members of a committee to help plan the program for next year's picnic. The club will be known as the "California Group of Former Students and Teachers of the John E. Brown Schools."

Following a picnic dinner at 1 o'clock, the boys' quartet sang several numbers and other students entertained with instrumental music. Dr. O. H. Kellogg, the first dean of the school and for the past several years a teacher in the Bible institute in Los Angeles, gave a talk, as did Evangelist John E. Brown. A number of the students gave interesting addresses on the work of the school.

Those present from Santa Ana were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Elser and son, Paul, and daughter, Margaret; Miss Lucille Howell, Miss Audrey Duckett and Cotton Bennett. Stanley Newton and Clinton Selby of Irvine and Evangelist Brown and his family were also there.

Ceremony in Anaheim Unites Santa Ana And Fresno Girl

At a quiet ceremony in Anaheim Sunday afternoon, August 16, Lloyd C. Whitlock, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Whitlock, 1014 North Van Ness avenue, this city, and Miss Lois Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson of Fresno, were married.

For the simple wedding, which took place in the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James Stafford, on South Clementine street in Anaheim, Miss Wilson wore a gown of white satin with a long veil and carried a shower bouquet of white bride's roses. Her sister, Mrs. Stafford, wearing a pink chiffon frock and carrying a bouquet of sweet peas, attended the bride as matron of honor. William Peterson was best man for the bridegroom.

During the reception following, the new Mrs. Whitlock cut her prettily decorated bride's cake, and this was served with other dainties. A charming color scheme of butterfly yellow was evidenced in the many flowers decorating the home for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitlock then left for their honeymoon trip. Mrs. Whitlock wearing a smart green ensemble. When they return in September, they plan to make their home in Escondido. The bride is a graduate of Anaheim high school, and shortly after graduation moved to Fresno to make her home. Mr. Whitlock is formerly of Illinois, and is a graduate of Santa Ana high school.

Scalding Bladder Passages Checked Or Costs Nothing

Simply because you are middle-aged or older is no reason why you should suffer the tortures of painful scalding urinations and sleepless nights.

Even if you've tried treatments and medicines without securing relief, you can check the worst pain and discomfort with Wiltunger Tee, a simple herb preparation from Germany in which is combined valuable mineral salts from the famous Wiltunger Bad. What is more, unless you are positively delighted with the relief you get from Wiltunger Tee, return the empty box and get your money back.

A well-known New York doctor while traveling in Germany was so impressed by the results obtained by kidney and bladder sufferers that he brought Wiltunger Tee to this country. Now you can get it right here.

You owe it to your loved ones as well as yourself to grow strong as quickly as possible. Wiltunger Tee is the first step, and it costs nothing unless it succeeds. Get it today at C. E. Kelley, Drugist, 101 East 5th Street, Santa Ana, Adv.

"TOASTING" expels SHEEP-DIP BASE naturally

(Black, biting, harsh irritant chemicals)

present in every tobacco leaf

"They're out—so they can't be in!"

Every LUCKY STRIKE is made of the finest tobacco leaves the world can offer—the finest from Turkey—the finest from Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, Georgia and the Carolinas—the Cream of many crops throughout the world. But all tobacco leaves, regardless of price and kind, as nature produces them, contain harsh irritants. LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process—a process that mellows, that purifies, that includes the use of the modern Ultra Violet Ray—expels certain harsh irritants naturally present in every tobacco leaf. We sell these expelled irritants to manufacturers of chemical compounds, who use them as a base in making sheep-dip*, as well as a powerful spraying solution for trees, flowers and shrubs—enough to permit the daily dipping of over 50,000 sheep or the daily spraying of many thousands of trees. Thus, you are sure these irritants, naturally present in all tobacco leaves, are not in your LUCKY STRIKE. "They're out—so they can't be in!" No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

Enrollment Of 800 Seen For Anaheim High School

OVER 300 NEW STUDENTS DUE FOR FALL TERM

ANAHEIM, Aug. 18.—More students will be registered at the Anaheim Union High school this coming term than ever before in the history of the school, figures made public today by Principal J. A. Claves reveal. A total of 300 new students will enter to make the aggregate enrollment over 800. Definite figures are not yet available because of the fact that many new students come here from other cities. Enrollment last year was about 650.

Arrangements for registering the students will be made when the first faculty meeting of the year is held at the school September 1. On September 2, 3 and 4 the students will be registered. On September 4 the first assembly will be held, at which time Principal Claves will address the students, outlining the duties and requirements of new students. Regular school sessions will begin September 7.

Eight new teachers will join the staff at the high school, making the total staff of instructors 47. New instructors include Richard M. Glover, who will be physical education instructor and football coach. Glover is a graduate of Occidental college, where he received his A. B. degree.

Another graduate of Occidental, Oliver Cooke, who has an M. A. degree, and who has been a teacher in Eagle Rock, will be in the mathematics department. Mary Frances Callanan, who will be in the science department, has attended both U. C. L. A. and U. S. C. and holds an M. A. degree. She comes here from Los Angeles. D. F. Lehmer, who has been on a leave of absence for a year, will rejoin the faculty this year. Mary Jane Van Booven, an Anaheim resident, will be instructor in the girls' physical education department. She is a graduate of U. C. L. A.

Kathleen McFaul, a graduate of U. S. C., will be in the commercial department, and Helen Ehlers, a graduate of U. S. C., comes to Anaheim from Ontario and will teach in the music department. She has had eight years' teaching experience. Another new instructor in music, Vladimir Thompson, who has been teaching in Los Angeles, will be added to the faculty this year. She is a graduate of Pomona College.

BUILDING FUND AIDED BY L. B. ARTISTS' SALE

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 18.—The third annual auction sale of paintings at the Laguna Beach art gallery will net a good sum for the building fund, it was announced today by the curator, Mrs. Lucie V. Long. For the annual sale the pictures are donated by artist members and the bidding lasts a month. The highest price was paid for "The Roost," by William Wendt, which the artist valued at $300. It was sold for $127.50. The second highest price, $125, was paid for "The Golden Sunset," by Frank W. Cuprien, valued at $200.

In each case the first bid was one-fourth of the value of the picture. Other pictures sold were "A Laguna Cove," Ida Randall Bolles; "The Valley," Maurice Baum; "San Jacinto," Arthur Cane; "Carved by the Sea," W. Galen Doss; "Misty Morning," Angel Espoy; "Evening," E. Franquet; "Near the Salton Sea," and a marine by William A. Griffith; a nude by Neale R. Ireland; "Brent Crags," Ferdinand Kaufman; "Dos Rocas," William W. James Kilgore, associate patron was in charge of the program and assuming the role of an English nobleman, gave a description of the fashions of the day, introducing the various models, and describing gowns. Charles T. Landell wore an afternoon frock and hat; John H. Page, little girl's outfit; Roy Eberhard, evening dress and picture; that; Herbert Hunt, pajamas; John Johnson, house dress; William McLaughlin and W. O. Malott in silk gowns and picture hats and after introducing the other models, Kilgore left the room to appear later in a dancing number dressed in a smart woman's sport outfit. John Johnson gave several vocal solos and ensemble singing and dancing was enjoyed. Mrs. Vanita Snyder played the piano accompaniment.

Following the program, refreshments were served in the banquet room with J. N. Shirley in charge of the committee. Fred Grenawalt, R. B. Nelson, C. M. Shear and H. H. Haggart assisted.

No meeting will be held on the regular date, September 7, Labor day. The September 21 meeting will be past matrons' and patrons' night.

THIEVES LEAVE 2 BOTTLES ALCOHOL

ANAHEIM, Aug. 18.—Officer Stephenson found a car parked near the White Temple Methodist church late Sunday night that had been parked there for some time, and brought it to the police station, where two bottles of alcohol were found in the car.

Later, Ralph McCoy, 320 North Olive street, came to the station and reported his car stolen. The car was found to be the same one that had been brought to the station, McCoy denied that the alcohol belonged to him.

Joe R. Olivera, 214 Romneya drive, filed a report at the police station yesterday stating that his car had been stolen Sunday night while parked near the Concordia club.

August Whippman, 733 North Claudia, reported the theft of a new lawnmower, Vern Miller, 24 North Resh street, also reported the theft of a lawnmower from his home Sunday night. He said he had found the tracks and footprints. Chief Bouldin and Officer Cheatum are investigating the thefts.

Eleanor Wildinson, 511 South Indiana street, filed a partial report of an accident that occurred Sunday night in Anaheim. She declared that a truck had crashed into her car and had gone on without stopping.

INSURANCE COMPANY GIVES LA HABRA $9651 FOR SCHOOL

LA HABRA, Aug. 18.—A settlement has been made by the fire adjusters, according to N. M. Lauer, president of the board of trustees of the La Habra schools. The payment was for the loss of the manual training and domestic science building which burned last month from unknown causes. The amount allowed for the replacement of the building is $9,651.28. The allowance for the contents of the building has not been agreed upon until complete price lists can be secured but the results are expected to be received in a day or two, and will probably run around $2000. The walls of the old building have been condemned and the new building will be replaced on the foundation of the old structure. The new structure will be of reinforced concrete instead of hollow tile as the original building.

FIVE JAILED ON LIQUOR CHARGES IN BEACH CITY

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 18.—Harold Porter, of Los Angeles, came down to spend the week end at Newport Beach and will prolong his stay over the next week end. He brought some liquor with him and the police arrested him for being drunk. Monday, Judge W. A. Leonard imposed a fine of $25 or 10 days in jail. Porter is taking the 10 days.

H. B. Whittell of Buena Park, was arrested by the police for drunkenness. Judge Leonard fined him $25 or 10 days in jail and he is taking the 10 days.

The Newport Beach police department raided the delicatessen at 504 East Bay avenue Sunday night and arrested the proprietor, C. R. Bailey, taking away three small bottles of liquor from the place. Bailey's trial is set for August 20 in Judge W. A. Leonard's court. He is charged with illegal possession in the complaint.

Dodd Smith, of Pomona, a farmer, brought his refreshments with him when he came to Newport Beach for a swim. The police arrested him on a drunk charge. He deposited $25 cash bail and failed to appear in police court Monday for trial. His bail will be forfeited.

N. G. Noble, of Los Angeles, was arrested for being drunk. He failed to show up in Judge Leonard's court Monday morning and his trial was set for Thursday.

W. Crane, 501 Bush street, Santa Ana, said some one had taken his auto while it was parked in front of Eddie Newton's place about 6:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Ted Doering Of Laguna Marries In Arizona City

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 18.—Friends of Theodore P. ("Ted") Doering, well-known in Legionnaire circles in southern California, were given a happy surprise yesterday when he returned to Laguna Beach a bridegroom. The "confirmed bachelor" was wedded in Yuma, Ariz., August 12 to Miss Cecelia Ackerman of Minneapolis. Their romance began more than three years ago, when Miss Ackerman was visiting in the southland. Only one friend, Carl O. David of San Juan Capistrano, knew of their engagement. Recently Mr. Doering wrote to his fiancée, asking her to come to this section to be married. Later he wired her to meet him at Yuma and they were joined in wedlock there at the Valley Baptist church by the Rev. W. S. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Doering are occupying the home which Doering built here at 143 Cypress drive, The Cliff. Doering is a former commander of the Sawtelle post, Disabled Veterans of the World War, and was active for several years in furthering the cause of that organization. His father, Paul Doering, a noted painter, had joined the Laguna Beach art colony, and when "Ted" came here to live, he was made adjutant of the Laguna Beach post of the American Legion.

Dr. W. C. Hayes announces removal of his office to 218 South Main St.

HARBOR SCHOOL CLASSES START SEPTEMBER 14

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 18.—The Newport Harbor Union high school will open Monday, September 14, two weeks earlier than last year, when the contractors were still working frantically to get the new plant ready for classes. Registration will take place Thursday and Friday, September 10 and 11.

Three hundred students are expected to enroll, as all four years of instruction will be given this year, instead of the first three years given last term. This will, therefore, be the first full year for Orange county's newest high school. Sixteen teachers will be on the faculty, an increase of four over last year's staff. The appointment of teachers was confirmed last night by the board of trustees.

Among the other things to be attempted this year will be a full program of athletics, including football games with other Orange county high school eleven. Athletic Coach Ralph Reed is on a trip east, but is expected back in a few days. The school grounds, on which building operations began only a little more than a year ago, are gradually taking on a beautiful and settled appearance. The part in front of the buildings is landscaped and profuse with flowers. The athletic field is being prepared for the battles to come and arrangements are being made to have portable bleachers this year.

Principal S. H. Davidson, with his wife and daughter, Muriel, made a 700-mile auto trip to his old home in Minnesota, going via the Redwood and Columbia highways and Glacier and Yellowstone parks and returning via Denver and Salt Lake.

Prowler Just Didn't Have Time To Wait

ANAHEIM, Aug. 18.—E. C. Duncan, 1016 East Broadway, captured a prowler in a yard, gave him a lecture, left him inside the yard, went in the house to get a gun with the intention of turning the man over to the police, but when he came back into the yard with the gun, the prowler had "prowled" to other points, according to records on file at the police station.

Orange Man Will Pay Liquor Fine

ANAHEIM, Aug. 18.—Jack Wittmeier, 39, of Orange, who was arrested at 1 o'clock yesterday morning by Officers Rude and Sherman, was fined $100 on a driving drunk charge and $25 on a drunk charge when he appeared before Judge Frank Tausch in the recorder's court yesterday afternoon. He paid $50 of the fine and was permitted to pay the balance in monthly installments.

J. B. Rodriguez, 51, of Anaheim forfeited $25 bail posted when he was arrested by Officers Rude and Sherman and Chief Bouldin after Bill Houser had reported the man staggering on the street. He was scheduled to appear before Judge Tausch yesterday but failed to do so.

HOME DESTROYED
HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 18.—Miss Elsie Chambers of the elementary school has received a letter from Colorado Springs had been destroyed by fire and was a total loss. There was no insurance on the property, which will cost $1000 to replace.

CHAS. H. SCHICK AND SAN DIEGO GIRL MARRIED

COSTA MESA, Aug. 18.—Charles Henry Schick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schick of Anaheim street, was married to Miss Dorothy Lamme, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kent A. Lamme of San Diego, Monday morning at 10 o'clock at the Community church, the Rev. A. F. Hase officiating.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Lamme, the bride's parents; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schick and son, Jackie, parents and brother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Funkhouser and daughter of Reno, Nev. Mr. Funkhouser is the groom's sister.

The bride and groom will make their home in San Diego, where the groom is a printer in the United States navy printing department. Charles Schick attended the local grammar school and graduated from the Santa Ana high school three years ago.

*A Ply is one of a number of layers of rubberized cotton fabric—either cord or square woven—extending from bead to bead and forming the body of the tire. **Definition of the National Better Tire Bureau.

Any fabric merely under the tread of a tire is a breaker strip and not a ply.

CHALLENGE CERTIFICATE
Mount an ALLSTATE on one wheel of your car against a tire of any other make on the opposite wheel. If the ALLSTATE does not give you greater mileage, more riding comfort, or a saving up to 25% in price, we will give you a new ALLSTATE tire FREE.

EXPERT MOUNTING SERVICE FREE
Store Hours: 3:30 A. M. to 6 P. M. Sat. 'Till 9

FIRST QUALITY TIRE
ALLSTATE tires have full ply construction. And ALLSTATE has as many plies as any other first-quality tire. Directly under the tread, in every ALLSTATE cross section, you will see another layer of fabric. Some people call it a ply. But Sears, Roebuck and Co., the National Better Business Bureau and the majority of good tire manufacturers call it a breaker strip. We are willing to accept the standard set for the tire industry.

ALLSTATE tires are rebuilt with plies of cotton that has been carefully selected for elasticity—"super-elastic"—we call it. Read the laboratory analysis on theft. See what experts learned to be the truth. See the ALLSTATE cross sections at any Sears store. Notice the double woven breaker strip in addition to the plies. Then make up your mind that the next time you buy tires you'll buy ALLSTATE—America's greatest tire value!

COMPARE These PRICES

Automobile manufacturers do not use the "Second Quality Tire" of National Manufacturers as original equipment. Why should you take the risk when you can save money by buying genuine, FIRST QUALITY ALLSTATE TIRES, backed by a responsible guarantee and with a saving of 25%?

MRS. W. HADDON GIVES WEEKLY BRIDGE HAND

The weekly bridge lesson, conducted by Mrs. W. Haddon from KREG each Wednesday night at 8 o'clock, follows a hand which she has outlined in advance. Mrs. Haddon explains how the hand should be played during her program and answers questions on auction and contract which have been mailed to her in care of KREG.

The bridge hand for tomorrow night's broadcast is as follows:

South (dealer)—Spades, J; hearts, A, 5, 2; diamonds, A, 7, 4; clubs, K, Q, 10, 6, 4, 3.

West—Spades, 6, 4; hearts, 8, 3; diamonds, J, 8, 6, 3, 2; clubs, A, J, 7, 5.

North—Spades, Q, 10, 9, 7, 3; hearts, Q, 10, 8; diamonds, K, 5; clubs, 8, 4, 2.

East—Spades, A, K, 8, 5, 2; hearts, K, J, 9, 7, 4; diamonds, Q, 10, 9.

RADIO BIRTHDAY PARTY TOMORROW

Lorene Croddy, conducting the Children's Hour from KREG, announces an innovation for tomorrow at 11:30 in the form of a radio birthday party.

This radio event will celebrate the birthdays of June Rae Carter of Santa Ana, who will be 5 years of age, and little Colleen Billips of San Juan Capistrano, who will be 4 years old tomorrow. Over 20 children will participate in the festivities during the program with songs, readings and tap dancing.

Among the guests at the radio birthday party will be Beverly Givins, Bobbie Lynn Berger, Constance Elliott, Sallie Andrews and Dixie Girl Luke, all of Santa Ana. Out-of-town guests will include Patricia Butler of Costa Mesa and Emily May McPherson of Anaheim.

MEN IN AMERICAN AFFAIRS ANALYZED

In the book "Mirrors of 1932" of anonymous authorship a writer looks with critical eye at men in public life and at the possible presidential timber. This book will be reviewed tomorrow morning over radio station KREG by Mary Burke King.

The writer has taken 10 of the most prominent men of America for analysis and apparently finds it easier to pick out the weaknesses of his subjects than their strength.

Pure-Bred Sheep Radio Talk Topic

Heralding the national ram sale at Salt Lake City, Utah, next week, W. E. Schneider of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics will discuss pure-bred sheep prices in a radio talk during the Western Farm and Home Hour over an NBC network today from 12:15 to 1 o'clock, P.S.T.

The artistic uses of tow sacks in the home as recommended by Miss Zella Blake of the Arizona Extension service and news from the Western States Extension service will conclude the speaking portion of the program, which is completed with musical numbers by an instrumental group.

TURNER RADIO TO SPONSOR PROGRAM

Tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. another feature broadcast of the Philco entertainers will be presented from KREG by means of electrical transcription, with the compliments of the Turner Radio company of this city.

This interesting program will be conducted by Philco's "Old Stager," as master of ceremonies, who will make one of his unique tone demonstrations, showing how some radios respond under certain conditions.

Excellent music will be provided by the Philco orchestra and the Philco Foursome in a well-arranged program of popular and favorite numbers.

Ray Dutton and His Harmony Boys scored a decided hit with their audience yesterday morning with their initial broadcast. They will be featured daily, except Sunday, from 10:30 to 11 a. m.

Glen Rayhawk, playing the musical saw, with Art Cannon at the piano, will be on the air again tonight at 8:30 with another of their pleasing programs. Although the telephone is kept rather busy, Glen says he is glad to answer all requests telephoned to 4900 if he can possibly do so.

Another delightful half hour is promised KREG's listeners tonight at 7 o'clock, when Johnny Maxwell, "the tenor with a tear in his voice," entertains with a selected group of ballads. He will be accompanied by Art Cannon at the piano who will play several solo numbers.

Idler and Motley, double piano artists, will be heard again this afternoon at 5 o'clock in another of their twin piano programs. These boys are rapidly increasing in popularity, according to telephone calls and letters received, and according to KREG's program director the two pianos sound almost like one played with four hands.

KREG NOTES

BROADCAST RACE

Description of the Kenner Stakes will be broadcast from the track at Saratoga Springs, New York, by Bryan Field over the WABC-Columbia network today from 4:15 to 4:45 p. m., E.D.S.T.

MAXWELL WILL SING TONIGHT ON RADIO KREG

Johnny Maxwell, one of the favorite artists over KREG, will be presented again tonight in a series of tenor solos, according to an announcement made today by studio officials. Art Cannon, well known pianist, will appear on the program with Maxwell from 7 until 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Of interest to lovers of poetry is the announcement that Estelle Card Beaman will give a group of poetic readings on tonight's program. She will be heard from the station for a half hour, from 7:30 until 8 p. m.

A studio program of popular phonograph records, one of the most popular programs broadcast from KREG, will be on the air from 8 until 8:30 p. m.

Glen Rayhawk, who has made a name for himself with the melodies he coaxes out of a musical saw, will appear on the program from 8:30 until 9 p. m. Art Cannon will play the piano during this portion of the program.

The Spanish program, a feature that has gained widespread favor, will be on the air from 9 until 10 p. m. Senor Guillermo Orozco, whose pure Castilian Spanish has been reported to be of great aid to students of Spanish, will conduct the program. Instrumental and vocal numbers of Spanish theme will be featured on this portion of the program.

The regular presentation of the Owl program from 10 until 11 p. m. will conclude the night's entertainment as broadcast from KREG.

CONSTRUCTION OF TABERNACLE STARTED TODAY

ORANGE, Aug. 18.—Material for the John Brown tabernacle is on the ground at the corner of Glassell and Walnut streets. Fifteen men worked yesterday. This morning 75 men and boys were on the job. The tabernacle was hauled over from its location in Santa Ana by trucks owned by the John Brown company, Ralph Welch, Fred Anderson, W. M. Schinger, T. L. Faris, Irwin Hager, Bruce Richards, Clements lumber company, F. W. Dollard and Jean Smither.

The noonday luncheon committee led by Mrs. V. A. Woods is serving dinner to the workmen at the Presbyterian church.

The chairman of workers from each church were Mrs. Frank Dollard, of the Baptist church; Mrs. J. Tweedy, Mennonite Brethren in Christ; Mrs. Russell Kenyon, Methodist church; Miss Sue Scarritt, Presbyterian church; Mrs. Florence Hager, Free Methodist church; Mrs. V. A. Woods, Christian church.

Workers under these chairman are Mrs. Frank Scovel, Mrs. R. C. Burkett, Miss Sue Rankin, Miss Maryveter Woods, Mrs. M. E. White, Mrs. C. E. Bonebrake, Mrs. William Moore, Mrs. G. W. Tweedy from the Mennonite Brethren in Christ church.

Coburns Return From Long Trip

ORANGE, Aug. 18.—Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Coburn, 225 East Maple street, have returned from a two months' motor trip across the continent. They visited Mr. Coburn's brother and family at Brunswick, Me., and relatives at Boston and Lynn, Massachusetts; Portland, Ore., and Oxnard, Calif. In southern Wyoming they were stalled for three days by a rain, the first in two years.

This Woman Lost 64 Pounds of Fat

Mrs. H. Price, of Woodside, L. I., writes: "A year ago I weighed 190 lbs. I started to take Kruschen and now I weigh 126 and never felt better in my life and what's more, I look more like 20 yrs. old than the mother of 2 children, one 19 and the other 18. Every one of my friends say it's marvelous the way I reduced."

To lose fat with speed take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—don't miss a morning—an 85 cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—get it at Givens & Cannon, McCoy Drug Co., 2 stores, or any drug store in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back—Adv.

El Modena School Has 256 Pupils

EL MODENA, Aug. 15.—Opening yesterday for a four weeks session before the beginning of the walnut harvest, the Lincoln school here is the first school in the county to open its doors for the coming school year. School will close for four weeks during the walnut season in order to give the children an opportunity to help their parents in this work of picking walnuts.

The enrollment at the school yesterday was 256, exclusive of the kindergarten department which has not as yet been checked.

It is expected that the addition which is being built at the Lincoln school will be completed after the vacation period when the pupils resume work in October.

Faculty members are as follows: Seventh and eighth grades, Russell Parks; kindergarten, Miss Ida McNair, primary; Miss Ruth Holding, first; Mrs. L. C. Howe, second; Miss Margaret Harbottle, third; Miss Julia Kenneally, fourth; Miss Helen Crawford, fifth; Miss Jane Martin, sixth; Miss Lillian Apsan.

DISTRICT MEET IS CONDUCTED FOR REBEKAHS

ORANGE, Aug. 18.—Mrs. Fannie Lacy, past president of the Rebekah assembly of California, and past trustee of the Rebekah Orphans' home at Gilroy, was the instructor at the 63rd district meeting of Rebekah lodges of this district yesterday. During the course of her opening talk it was revealed that Mrs. Lacy had conducted the first meeting ever held in the district. The sessions are semi-annual events.

The meeting was opened by the noble grand of the hostess lodge Miss Nora Edwards at 10 a. m. and the sessions were held in the Smith and Grote hall, while the luncheon was served by the members of the First Methodist church Ladies' Aid society in the Epworth hall.

Mrs. Lacy was introduced by Mrs. Jennie Annin, of Fullerton, district deputy president. About 100 were present. Other guests were Mrs. Cora Yates, past president of the Rebekah assembly of Colorado; Mrs. Amelia Praetor Osterag, of Los Angeles, past president of the Rebekah assembly of California; Mrs. Jean Cale, deputy president of district No. 83, of El Centro; Mrs. M. Millhouse, deputy president of district No. 8, Los Angeles; Mrs. J. A. Widder, deputy president of district No. 81, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Jessie Fournier, past chaplain of the Rebekah assembly of Colorado.

The lodge representatives present exemplified the degree work. The question box was opened after luncheon and the questions were answered by Mrs. Lacy.

Mrs. Susie Grant, noble grand of the Fullerton lodge, announced that Fullerton extended an invitation to a card party to be held August 26 in the Fullerton I. O. O. F. hall for the purpose of raising funds to be used at the grand encampment in Fullerton in October.

HIGHWAY PLANS BEFORE ORANGE GROUP TONIGHT

ORANGE, Aug. 18.—P. A. Stanton, state highway commissioner, will be present at the highway meeting in the city hall at 7:30 o'clock, tonight, when the routing of the secondary state highway through this vicinity will be discussed.

S. V. Corteyou and Fred J. Drumm, members of the state highway engineering department, also are to be present and it is expected that a large number of interested residents of the Orange and the Olive districts will attend. Orange merchants are favoring the routing of the highway along Glassell street instead of following a route across the hills south of Olive to a point to connect with the Tustin boulevard and then on Tustin avenue to the Newport boulevard. This latter routing, it is said, has been considered by the state highway engineers.

A petition circulated here and signed by 41 Orange merchants asking for the routing of the state highway along Glassell street will be presented to Stanton this evening. The new secondary highway will be a continuation of the Santa Ana canyon boulevard.

hooks and slides Gehrig In 1000th Consecutive Game

william braucher
MARCH IN BILOXI
It was just six months ago that Walter Johnson stroled over to the bleachers where I sat and started to tell me about his ball club. We were in Biloxi, Miss., then, spring was in the air and the Senators were just taking form as a team. "If one of those pitchers will win 20 games," said Walter, "and the others keep coming like they did last year, I think we'll win a pennant."

Remember that? Remember the nice things I said about his pitching staff of seven pretty good hurlers, with several better-than-average-looking rookie twirlers? SOMEBODY SLIPPED
That comfortable lead the Athletics have over the Senators makes it look very much like Walter will not win his pennant this year. And I'm almost convinced that nobody in that Washington clan of good pitchers is going to win 20 games.

For a while I would have bet that big Fred (Filpo) Marberry would step out and grab off the 20 victories Walter said he needed. Filpo got away slowly but gained momentum as he went along. He won nine of his first 10 games, then dropped another. Since then he has added three triumphs but he's still quite a bit short of the goal Walter set for one of them.

MORE MISCALCULATIONS
In Biloxi we both figured that Joe Cronin would be even better this season than he was last. But he isn't. At least he hasn't been thus far and the halfway mark is passed. Joe still gets my vote for the best shortstop in the major leagues, but I'm afraid he is several steps behind the lead who won the American league's most valuable player award in 1930.

THOSE PESKY A's
We also thought that Heinie Manush would get just as many hits and drive in as many runs as last year. But Heinie slumped, too. Latest averages show him just barely above the .300 mark in batting, which is no figure at all for him.

AN ENGLISH THREAT
Sometimes they call him "T. P." or "T. Philp." or "Tom." or even "Phil." His real name is Thomas Philip Perkins, born Sept. 3, 1894, in West Bromwich, England. He's a full-fledged resident of the United States. When the required period of residence elapses, he'll become a citizen of this country.

STARS OPPOSE WESTMINSTER TONIGHT IN FINAL GAME OF NATIONAL LEAGUE SCHEDULE
Decision as to who will be Santa Ana's first baseman in the Anaheim series will be made tonight after the Stars' concluding National Night league game at Westminster.
Manager George Lackaye plans to try at the initial sack both Joe Mene and Randolph Bell, starting with Mene, and the one who makes the better impression undoubtedly will get the assignment against Anaheim Wednesday. Mene will work the first five or six frames, Bell the rest.

YANK STAR IN LINEUP DAILY SINCE JUNE '25

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Ignoring the large cash award offered to sports writer who today refuses to refer to Lou Gehrig as "baseball's iron man," we hereby announce that "Iron Man" Gehrig will play his 1000th consecutive major league game in Detroit this afternoon, weather and Joe McCarthy permitting.

From a person who has been a close observer of Mister Gehrig since the day he stepped off a subway from Columbia university into the Yankee stadium it was learned exclusively that Lou is not really an "iron man" but is composed of bone, sinew and muscle.

Hesitating to make charges but admitting that certain things transpired at the recent Woman's National A. A. U. track meet at Jersey City looked "funny" to them Evelyn Furtach, sensational Tustin schoolgirl sprinter, her mother and her coach, Vincent Humeston, were back home today completing an automobile excursion that took them through 28 states in about five weeks.

CHAMPION EIGHT TIMES
His first championship effort came in 1921 after two years of constant playing. It was the Warwickshire tournament. He won it. In fact, he monopolized it, for not until 1929 did they break his hold on that particular event.

DOWNED OLD FAVORITES
Perkins readily established his name in this country. It didn't take U. S. amateur fans long to realize that here was a new star, for he quickly defeated such home favorites as Don Moss, Ducky Yates, Johnny Dawson and George Voigt.

BAER VS. SANTA
OAKLAND, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Max Baer versus Jose Santa is the program offered California fight fans next month, according to an announcement by Bertys Perry, manager of Santa. The Livermore boy will meet the big Portuguese in a 10-round battle at the Oakland baseball park, Monday night, September 14.

Cal Gregg Winner AT S. A. SKEET CLUB
Cal Gregg and A. L. Steward tied for first place in the Santa Ana Skeet club's Sunday shoot. They both hit 24 out of a possible 25 targets. Other scores: O. Harsh, 23; J. Johnson, 22; C. Kump, 21; Sam Collins, George Myers, Mel Morgan and Lyle Morgan, 20; Sam Nau, 19; Mel Gregg, 16; Bob Sandon, 15; Sam Kraemer, 14.

SCHOOLGIRL SPRINTER HOME

Evelyn Furtach, sensational Tustin high school sprinter, has returned from her trip to the National Women's A. A. U. track meet at Jersey City, N. J., where she took second place in the 100-yard dash, beating among others the world's champion, Stella Walsh. Here Miss Furtach is shown with her coach, Vincent Humeston.

Hill and Gardens, the Moose lodge and the Public Playgrounds are still playing tag with the leadership of the Santa Ana City league. With the very last week of the season upon them, these three clubs continue even choices to finish the race on top.

The lowly 20-20's threatened for a time to score a dramatic upset, holding a 2-0 lead until the last of the fourth when the Moose got to Ray Price's slow balls for three runs. Lutz and Berry both blasted triples during the rally. Poor support behind Price allowed the lodgement additional runs in the fifth and sixth.

SUTTER BEATEN IN CASINO NET TOURNAMENT UPSET

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 18.—(UP)—Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, was the victim of the first upset scored in the Newport Casino's 15th annual invitation tennis tournament today, when he was defeated in straight sets by J. Gilbert Hall of East Orange, N. J. Scores were 6-4, 6-4. The match was in the second round.

John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, won in the second round over Wilbur Coen, Kansas City, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4. Berkeley Bell, Austin, Tex., defeated Allan E. Scott, Oregon, 6-2, 6-4, and Edward W. Brown, New York, won over Edward Feigelman, New York, 5-7, 6-3, 6-2, to complete the second round.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 13.
(UP)—As the 44th annual women's national tennis singles championship moved into the second round today, spectators were faced with the prospect of seeing the tournament resolve into a duel between California and Maryland.

For, of the 32 first-round survivors, six hail from California and seven from England. There is a strong possibility that 12 of the 13 still will be in circulation tonight for only one of today's matches finds a Californian pitted against an Englishwoman. This one will probably result in a British triumph, for Miss Dorothy Round is too strong a player for Miss Gracy Wheeler.

California, however, need have no worries as to the ultimate result of the tournament. Mrs. Helen Willis Moody proved, in her 6-0, 6-0, first round triumph over Miss Edith Sigourney, that she is as invincible as ever. The champion plays Miss Mary Greaf of Kansas City today.

PLAYGROUNDERS IN 10-INNING VICTORY

Here's Dope On Rivals In Title Series

Here are "thumbnail" sketches of the members of the Santa Ana and Anaheim baseball clubs, rivals in a series opening here tomorrow for the National Night league championship:

PITCHERS
Elwyn "Fuzzy" Errington and Frank (Chico) Sabella are the No. 1 and No. 2 men of the Anaheim staff. Errington probably will start against the Stars tomorrow. He has a remarkable change of pace, probably the best yet perfected in short-base ball. Sabella, a big, husky Italian, has a blazing fast raise-ball.

CATCHERS
Francis "Red" Lemon and Lew Andrus are Anaheim's catchers. Lemon is a much improved receiver. He has a good eye and a huster. Andrus is a much better hitter but can work only when Errington pitches because he is unable to handle Sabella's speed.

INFIELDERS
Anaheim's infield probably will be Ray Scholder, 1b; George Preble, 2b; Al Kohler, 3b, and Paul Neal, ss. Scholder is an Indian, a wonderful fielding first sacker and an unorthodox but steady hitter. Preble, greatly improved since his days with the Santa Ana club, is a fair fielder and a fine hitter with long range possibilities. Kohler is the best hitting infielder on either team and a reliable third baseman on defense, especially on bunts. Neal, fast and sure, can be replaced by Mal Higgins, tall North Long Beach recruit, who is a better batsman than Neal and probably as steady on defense although much slower on the bases.

OUTFIELDERS
Anaheim will use Mene in left field, Orville Schuchardt in center, Johnny Rice in right. The Anaheim outfielders are all southerners, all good throwers. Mene is a sure thrower. Schuchardt is the best outfielder in the series, defensively and offensively both considered, and will be especially valuable to his team because he knows the strength and weaknesses of the Santa Ana batsmen. Rice is a scrappy little chap who never wears a cap. He often goes on hitting sprees. He has a rifle arm.

PLAYGROUNDERS IN 10-INNING VICTORY
Merle Ewell's Public Playgrounds tied the score in the ninth and then beat Costa Mesa in the tenth inning, 7-6. In a night ball game at Costa Mesa last night.

NELSON AND KOHLER LEAD WITH WILLOW
Wayne Nelson and Al Kohler are the leading hitters of the Santa Ana and Anaheim baseball clubs, according to averages for all National Night league games played to date.

Cal Gregg Winner AT S. A. SKEET CLUB
Cal Gregg and A. L. Steward tied for first place in the Santa Ana Skeet club's Sunday shoot. They both hit 24 out of a possible 25 targets. Other scores: O. Harsh, 23; J. Johnson, 22; C. Kump, 21; Sam Collins, George Myers, Mel Morgan and Lyle Morgan, 20; Sam Nau, 19; Mel Gregg, 16; Bob Sandon, 15; Sam Kraemer, 14.

Walker Knocks Out Gagnon In Opener
BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 18.—(UP)—Two punches were enough for Mickey Walker, former middleweight champion, needed to knock out Jack Gagnon, Boston heavyweight, Gagnon, who weighed 200 pounds to Walker's 167, was counted out after 27 seconds of fighting.

VALENCIAS 2-1 FAVORITES FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

It won't be long now! The "Little World Series" is only a few hours away! Santa Ana and Anaheim, greatest of all short-base night baseball teams, spring at each other's throats at 8 p. m. tomorrow.

They open their momentous four-out-of-seven series in Santa Ana's Bowl, and the greatest crowd that ever attended a baseball game in Orange county will be there if fervish activities here, there and everywhere today were an criterion.

All Seats Reserved
Every seat at the Bowl has been reserved. The ticket sale began this morning. When the box office at Victor Walkers' sporting goods store opened there was a line half a block long waiting to pick over the pasteboards.

By noon half of Santa Ana's block of 1500 tickets had been sold, hurried officials estimated. Meanwhile rival managers and players were at work with eleventh hour battle plans.

Santa Ana prepared to play a regular game, its final National league assignment, at Westminster tonight. Anaheim draws a bye, so most of its players planned to scout the Stars.

Asked for "bottle statements," rival managers said:
George Lackaye, Santa Ana—Santa Ana realizes it is the underdog in this series, and that it will be tremendously handicapped with "Enny" Wilcox definitely out. Leavitt Daley injured and without an experienced first baseman. However, in some ways the underdog position appeals to us because Santa Ana has a fighting team that will do its best under pressure. You can say this for me, Santa Ana goes into this series to win, not merely to prolong it. We have the greatest respect for our opposition, from manager to batboy. We realize our task is a big one. But we think we have a chance, a good chance to win. Anyway, don't make the mistake of counting us out before the fight starts.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING INSTALLMENTS

"Benny Rufano, eh? Now—how's he come to be sittin' in, I wonder?" Detective Sergeant Charley Mitchell was one fact closer to the solution of the murder of Tack Thayer in his penthouse, through what Peter Wayne had learned from Tack's wife, Martha, who was under suspicion, along with Evan Ross, Martha was in love with Ross, and Peter, having unexpectedly made himself independent financially, had returned to New York and fallen hopelessly in love with Martha. Peter had just told Charley and Arthur Bouton (Martha's counsel, about Benny Rufano. The first time he met Martha was with Tack in Emma's night club. Tack had resented the presence of Ross and Martha had asked Peter to take her home. In the Taxi, Martha slipped a costly bracelet into Peter's hands, saying she had promised Benny $500 that night. Peter returned the jewel and said he would pay Benny, which he did. Martha repaid him the next day but didn't explain until after Tack's murder that Tack had loved heavily in a crap game at Emma's and that Charley had been demanding money from her. "Blackmail!" thought Charley.

Mitchell, Mitchell told Peter to meet him at Emma's. While Peter was waiting for the detective he was approached by Dr. Meyer Zahn, the Park Avenue set's psychoanalyst.

INSTALLMENT 21

"I know the papers have made a mystery of Mrs. Thayer's whereabouts," Zahn said. "I merely drew a natural inference from the fact that she had sent for you when she discovered the tragedy, and that she went off in a cab with you. The reporters were a little stupid, I think, not to draw the same inference."

"I suppose they were," said Peter. He hesitated. "My sister's perfectly right. That's where she is—with my sister."

"Will you tell her that I am at her service, if she needs me? I make it a rule not to make professional calls, but this is, of course, an exceptional case."

"Yes—I'll get word to her," said Peter. He hesitated. "My sister sent for Dr. Watson this morning—she thought some one might be needed in a hurry—"

"Oh!" Zahn laughed again, and made a deprecating gesture. "I am not her physician, Watson's an excellent man. I suppose I could still prescribe, in an emergency, for ordinary physical ailments, but the mind is my province, not the body."

He sighed. "It is a pity, is it not, Mr. Wayne, that it is so much easier to know what people should do than to find a way of implanting that knowledge in their minds?"

"You mean that your patients don't take your advice?" said Peter, rather blunty.

"Advice?" Zahn raised his eyebrows. "I never give advice. Mr. Wayne. That is decidedly not my province. My task is to help my patients to discover for themselves the nature of their real wishes and, perhaps, to help them, also, to find the courage to act in accordance with them." He smiled, faintly. "My difficulty is to keep them from persuading me to give them advice. They're only too anxious to have it, and too ready to act upon it, too, and so to evade the responsibility of making their own decisions. My task is to lead them to think for themselves and act accordingly."

Peter nodded, thoughtfully. He knew that that was, in fact, a fair and adequate statement of a psychoanalyst's conception of his job. But he had always wondered whether, in practice, psychoanalysts lived up to that ideal, and he wondered very much whether Meyer Zahn did. There was nothing meek about Zahn, really; the lust for power was in the lines about his mouth, and in his cruel, predatory hands. And certainly what Zahn had just said didn't apply, Peter thought, to Martha. It wasn't her way to seek advice, or to try to evade responsibility—although Peter fully believed that most people did go to a psychoanalyst precisely because they lacked the courage for the strength to decide things for themselves.

"To know one's own mind—" Zahn was going on, and his voice, now, was detached and remote, as if he were not so much speaking to Peter as thinking aloud. "To know one's own inmost thoughts, to have no secrets from one's own consciousness, to face, unafraid, one's most shameful wishes as well as the nobler ones. To have both the courage and the strength to be true to one's self, to act in accordance with one's nature. That is to live fully."

That's a dangerous doctrine, Dr. Zahn, said Peter.

"Dangerous?" Zahn's eyes came back to him. "But life has always been dangerous, Mr. Wayne, and it always will be. What is the supreme danger? Death! Annihilation. Destruction, obliteration, of body and spirit. And that is a danger no one living can finally evade. Danger is of the essence of life. It is the price we must all pay for the privilege of living at all. It is the entrance fee to a theater that has no free list."

"That man who will not face danger is a fool. He is doomed to fail in his effort to escape, and the punishment for attempting it is that he does not live at all before he dies—as in the end, he must. He rejects all that millions of years of effort, all that has led to the evolution of man as he is today, all that has contributed to the survival of the fittest, have done for the race. As a scientist you will agree with me, surely?"

"I don't know," said Peter. "I'm not a scientist in your use of the word, perhaps, Dr. Zahn. I'm a specialist in a narrow and limited field of research."

"You do yourself less than justice, Mr. Wayne."

"It didn't occur to me that you so much as knew who I was, Dr. Zahn," he said.

Zahn waved his hand, deprecatingly.

"You are too modest," he said. "I like to be informed, moreover, than you think, perhaps, Mr. Wayne. Just for one thing—I have no wish to be mysterious—you have had a considerable place in Mrs. Thayer's thoughts lately. And you know our technique well enough to know that our patients talk to us, at random, of what passes through their minds. Yes—I know you fairly well."

"I see," said Peter. His voice was rather curt. He was still puzzled, and he was beginning, now, to be vaguely annoyed, too. This man was, no doubt, a leader in his own field; he was a scientist of definite and distinguished achievements. But he was also an ill-bred and presumptuous little man. He tried to control his sudden feeling of resentment and dislike; he knew that Zahn would sense it.

"You don't like me very well, Mr. Wayne," said Zahn. "I'm sorry. Our points of view are radically different. Neither of us is to blame for that. But I am not talking to you idly. It may be difficult, even impossible, for me to see Mrs. Thayer, while you have ready access to her. In this one case I mean to depart from my rule—I mean not only to give, but offer her, advice."

"Urge her, I beg you, to be strong. To have the courage of her own thoughts, her own deeds. Tell her that her worst danger now lies in her own fears, in a remorse that is not real, but arises from her unconscious tendency to surrender to her inhibitions, to standards of conduct imposed upon her by centuries of tradition."

"What do you mean?" said Peter, harshly.

Zahn shrugged his shoulders delicately.

"I think you understand me very well, Mr. Wayne," he said. "You are by no means stupid. You have a slow mind, perhaps. But it is a good one."

"If you're daring to suggest—" Peter's anger was rising swiftly.

"I suggest nothing," said Zahn. "If you did not share my—shall we say, my opinion—you would not so readily understand what it is. I have nothing more to say."

"I have," said Peter, in a low voice. "Mrs. Thayer had nothing to do with her husband's death, nor does she know who killed him. That isn't a matter of opinion, but a definite, exact knowledge."

Again Zahn shrugged his shoulders.

"If you really believe that—I am sorry for you, my young friend. And—for Mrs. Thayer. For she needs help not from chivalrous and Quixotic morons, but from keen-witted friends who can face—and accept—facts as they are."

Peter got up.

"I suppose you mean 'well,' he said. "And I don't mean to be rude. Dr. Zahn. But I can't help telling you that you're talking like a damned fool."

"Oh, no—but no," said Zahn, gently. "Damned I may be, Mr. Wayne. But I am not a fool."

Peter stared at him a moment longer; was moved to answer him; changed his mind, and walked away. He couldn't stand this place any longer. He was accomplishing nothing by staying; Charley, it was plain, wasn't coming. He went out toward the elevator. Benny was there, and, for the moment, alone.

"Mr. Wayne," he said, his lips scarcely moving. "I want to see you." He jerked his hand toward a door. "Go in there for a minute."

Peter hesitated. But here, obviously, was a lead of just the sort Charley had hoped he might find at Emma's. He found himself in a small, close room, in which were a desk, a safe, and a couple of chairs. After a minute Benny came in.

"I guess we can talk, Mr. Wayne, you and me," said Benny. "You'll remember that you handed me half a grand one night for a 'certain party'—no need to mention names."

Peter nodded, grimly.

"Yes," he said. "I remember very well."

"I guess you can get a message to her now," Benny went on. "Tell her the same parties she knows about want five grand before midnight tomorrow—tonight. I guess that is. Or else—Connolly'll find out how Thayer was croaked."

"I think you'd better be a little plainer," said Peter, after a moment. He rather admired himself, later, for the way he kept his temper.

"She'll understand," said Benny, sullenly.

"Perhaps," said Peter. "Perhaps she would, but you see, I don't. And it's important that I should—this time."

"Oh, you be damned!" said Benny. "You don't want her to go to the chair, do you?"

"No," said Peter. "And she isn't going."

"She is—unless she comes through," said Benny. The threat in his voice was the ugliest thing Peter had ever heard. "Oh, I don't mind telling you! You think you know it all, and you don't. You don't know anything. You know about the night at the Fantomas Club? Yes? Well—do you know that she got Thayer calmed down by promising to meet him at home at 2:30? That's why he went home—alone."

"I hear you say so," said Peter. "Some one else'll hear it if you and she don't watch your step—and that's Connolly," said Benny. "And I'll tell you something else he'll hear, too—and that's where he can find the gun that killed Thayer. Ask her where that is. She can tell you—if she will! And then try and get it—with Connolly's bulls on the job on that roof!"

"You're lying," said Peter, quietly. "They've searched every inch of that roof for the gun."

Benny laughed.

"Oh, sure. I know that. It's there just the same. They haven't found it—yet. But they can keep any one else from getting it. The bulls are dumb—but they ain't so dumb that they'd let any one get away with that gun now!"

Peter considered Benny for a moment without speaking. The Italian's eyes shifted. But his voice, when he went on, was as menacingly sure as ever.

"Connolly knows how Thayer was killed," he said. "He knows who did it—and within five minutes, when. And how. And why. And—he can prove most of what he knows. Five minutes after midnight tomorrow he'll have the rest of the proof—unless we get the five grand. That's all."

Clifford Hamilton, 32, Santa Ana, was taken into custody Sunday night at 9:30 o'clock, when he was found sitting on the back steps of the home of F. W. Stafford, near First and Shelton streets. Hamilton said he was merely resting. No charge has been placed against the youth.

State Warns Against 'Black Widow' Spider

SACRAMENTO, June 29 (UP)—Keep a close watch for the "black widow" spider.

This is the warning of the State Board of Health in pointing out that the present season is one in which it is best not to take a chance with the poisonous arachnid whose bites usually are not fatal, but are decidedly painful and sometimes induce partial paralysis.

The "black widow" likes old buildings and similar musty places. The poisonous species is shiny and black, with three white spots on the abdomen. It is only the female that bites.

BAND CONCERT WILL FEATURE FRENCH MUSIC

The vivacity and sparkle so characteristic of French music will find full expression in the weekly concert program to be offered by the Santa Ana municipal band in Birch park next Thursday evening. According to D. C. Clamont, director of the popular local musical organization, an especially picturesque and novel program, including several distinctly varied solo and ensemble features, has been arranged for presentation in honor of "French night," and will provide for popular enjoyment a real treat of both music and dancing.

In addition to typical French classic favorites to be given by the band, Clamont announced that the beautiful classic aria, "Vision Fugitive," from Jules Massenet's exciting modern opera, "Herodias," will be sung by Lloyd Staples, baritone soloist of Pasadena. He will be accompanied at the piano by Miss Leonora Tompkins of this city.

Lending a note of feminine appeal, the popular ladies' choral organization, the Treble Clef club, is planning to appear in an attractive song group, directed by William Clamont.

Considerable attention will also be drawn to Thursday night's program by an added attraction in the form of two special ballet numbers, to be furnished through the courtesy of the Putnam School of Dance. A small, appropriately costumed ballet group will participate in the band's presentation of a selection from Gounod's opera, "Faust," while a larger dance ensemble of 15 members will also present the beautiful "Baccanale" from Camille Saint-Saens' famous opera, "Samson et Dalila," an outstanding masterpiece of French dramatic composition. This group will also be accompanied by the band.

Charles Gounod, celebrated French opera composer, will be represented by three contrasting selections, to be given by the band, including the "Marche au Cortège" from Gounod's famous opera, "La Reine de Saba"; the comic characteristic, "Funeral March of a Marionette," this grotesque work a favorite with concert-goers, and an arrangement from "Faust," considered Gounod's masterpiece, and one of the most outstanding works in operatic repertoire, an international favorite for more than 70 years.

Equally compelling French classics to be given by the band include a brilliant selection from Bizet's "Carmen" and, in marked contrast, the overture from Auber's classic opera, "Masaniello."

MUSIC DIRECTOR TO CONTINUE WORK

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 18.—James E. Son, director of music for this city, whose position with the city was discontinued by the city council, announced Monday that he would continue to carry on his work here. Mr. Son directed the boys' band, the orchestra, municipal band and other city musical organizations without pay.

J. Sherman Denny, chairman of the unemployment committee of the chamber of commerce praised the elementary school board of education for letting the work of landscaping the grounds at this time. He stated that a number of men had found jobs at this work and that the school board was co-operating with the chamber of commerce in giving men employment.

State To Place 20,000 Bass In Upper Bay Soon

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 18.—Men from the fish and game commission have been in Newport Beach for the past few days inspecting the east arm of the bay with a view of stocking it with young sea bass. It is the plan to liberate some 20,000 young bass there at an early date and to bring other hatches of young fish to the bay from time to time until at least 100,000 baby fish have been stocked in the upper bay.

Puts An End To Bunion Pains

There is one simple yet inexpensive way to reduce inflammation of swollen toe joints and help get them somewhere near normal and that is to apply Moore's Emerald Oil night and morning. Ask McCoy Drug Co.—2 Stores—Modern Pharmacy, or any first-class drugstore for an original two-ounce bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (an 85c bottle lasts two weeks) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces lasts a long time and furthermore if one bottle does not give you complete satisfaction you can have your money refunded. Adv.

SPECIAL CONCERT ATTRACTION

Peggy Kiskaden, solo dancer in the Saint Saens Baccanale, who is appearing with the ensemble from the famous opera "Samson et Dalila" as a feature of the weekly band concert tomorrow night in Birch Park.

GROWERS TOLD AVOCADO JOINS MAJOR FRUITS

The California avocado for the first time in the coming season will enter the group of major California fruits and vegetables in quantities on the national market, predicted Edwin Humason, sales manager of the industry's co-operative, the Calavo Growers of California. In addressing several hundred members of the California Avocado Association and the marketing co-operative at Vista, last Saturday afternoon, Growers represented virtually every community from Santa Barbara south, including scores from this city and vicinity.

The national market is the future of the industry if growers are to continue receiving satisfactory prices, as California alone cannot be expected to consume the tremendous increases in production that each additional year is bringing. Mr. Humason pointed out adding that in seven to ten years there may be 50 to 70 times the record crop of this "bumper" year. The national market is rapidly being educated to the avocado, the "aristocratic" California avocado, to care for these increases. Success in disposing of this present season's bumper crop revealed the decided advantages of continuing with the same general principles, which produced such satisfactory prices from a wide distribution, rather than "red ink" from overproducing the local market. To continue this sales plan, a large production membership in the marketing unit is a vital necessity to continue satisfactory prices to the growers, it was said. For that reason a short period for acceptance of new members is now open, particular effort being made to enlist those owning groves that will bear for the first time soon. An average of 12 cents a pound is being netted by growers for all fruit, including culls, this season, Mr. Humason announced.

Experimental plots at Carlsbad and Encinitas, financed by San Diego county, to determine how "dothiorella rot," a fungus living in dead twigs, spreads to fruit causing it at maturity to suddenly discolor, were described by R. R. McLean, county agricultural commissioner. Bordeaux mixture sprays of varying strengths are being given to some trees while others are being given Monobrylate copper dust, at different stages of the blossom and fruit growth, by Dean F. Palmer, county inspector at Carlsbad, in the experiments being carried on. Adella Peterson spoke on "The Nutritional Value of Calavos."

One of the county fertilization tests is being made on the Vista grove of George Pratt Smith, the association's host for the day, representing the avocado department of the county farm bureau, according to James C. France.

CITY PLANNERS APPOINT TWAY AS SECRETARY

A long delay in deciding who was to be secretary of the Santa Ana city planning commission came to an abrupt end last night when the commission, meeting in a room adjoining the city council chambers, unanimously elected William Tway to the position.

Announcement of the election was made to the city council just before it adjourned last night. The question has been "hanging fire" for the past several months, due to a salary dispute. Mrs. Clara Cushman, who was secretary last year at a salary of $50 per month had been acting as secretary since last April, and there were some grounds to believe that she was to again be elected to the position possibly at a reduced salary.

No mention of salary was made by the commission in reporting the election. Councilman L. L. McBride made a motion to the effect that the commission be requested to state what salary was to be paid the new secretary at next week's meeting of the council.

COUNTY SPELLERS WANTED AT FAIR

Wizard spellers of Orange county, here's a chance to "spell down" the entire state and win a cash prize of $200 and a gold medal giving you the title of spelling champion of California.

D. Eymann Huff of Orange, state fair director, has announced the completion of the arrangements for the annual open spelling contest for adults at the 77th California state fair, which opens in Sacramento September 5 and closes September 12. The contest will be held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, September 8, in the grandstand building, where the educational exhibits will be housed this year.

Hundreds participated in the contest last year. In addition to the first prize of $200 and a gold medal, a second prize of $100 and a silver medal, and a third prize of $50 and a bronze medal, are offered.

In absolute fairness to contestants, a new rule has been adopted this year, which bars winners of previous contests from participation. It has been found that some persons cannot be "spelled down."

STRATOSPHERE PLANES
DESSAU, Germany.—There is being constructed at the Junkers aircraft factory here a special airplane for flights into the stratosphere, successfully invaded by Professor Picard in his balloon recently.

San Diego county farm advisor, who later showed the plots to the growers. "The Intelligent Use of Fertilizers" as related to the avocado was his topic, discussing it from the soil and the crop points of view. A lively question and answer period on avocado culture followed the addresses. Mr. Smith is the director in his district for the Calavo Growers.

Whooping Cough Leader On July Health Report

Whooping cough led the contagious diseases reported in Santa Ana during the month of July, according to the report of the county health officer, Dr. K. H. Sutherland, filed with the city council last night.

There were 16 cases of whooping cough reported and its closest competitor was measles with four cases reported.

Dogs continued to bother authorities during the month, the report showing there were 16 persons bitten by dogs during the month and one case of rabies reported, which was treated with the Pasteur method successfully.

POLICE BREAK UP PARTY, TAKE HOST

Thomas McConnell, 45, of 1427 South Ross street was merely entertaining a number of his friends last night when Captain Jess Buckles and Officers Wolford, Murillo and McWilliams walked into his home with a search warrant and confiscated 19 cents of beer.

Some 300 empty bottles were found on the premises and 20 glasses of beer was in the making. Officers reported, McConnell was arrested on a charge of possession of liquor and 30 minutes later was released on bail of $400 to appear in the city police court on Friday.

Officers reported a party was in full swing when they arrived. Beer glasses were hurriedly thrown under chairs and a sofa and a number of persons attempted to leave the house via windows and doors. They were held until after McConnell was arrested and then allowed to go.

Council Notes

A request of the Martin Used Car company, of 510 East Fourth street, for permission to erect used cars and sell parts at 513 East Third street, was deferred by the city council last night until next Monday night.

The city engineer was last night instructed to do away with plans made on May 13, for the proposed installation of street lights on Birch and Ross streets between Second and Third streets.

A request made of the council for the use of Birch park on September 16, the Mexican Independence Day, in which to hold a celebration for the Mexican people was referred to A. C. Hasenjaeger, park commissioner for action.

S. G. Francis last night was granted permission to improve and use a house at 214 South Broadway as an office, after the matter has been referred to the planning commission, approved by that body and sent back to the city council.

The city council voted to amend the zoning ordinance to change the zone in the area bounded on the north by Walnut street, on the west by Cedar street, on the east by the Santa Fe railroad tracks and on the south by the east and west center line between Pine and Chestnut streets from a single family residence zone to a light industrial zone.

C. W. MEADOWS IS ACQUITTED IN GIRL CASE

Reaching his decision without hearing final argument, by the defense, Superior Judge G. K. Scovel yesterday declared C. W. Meadows, 62, of Orange, not guilty of an offense against a young girl.

The court pointed out that he could not convict a man in such a case on the uncorroborated testimony of the girl. The young woman, Kathleen Furstenau, had said the offense took place in the Meadows print shop in view of both front and back windows. Judge Scovel said he could not believe a man with the good reputation of Meadows would risk it by an offense in such a place.

Miss Furstenau said the act took place just after 5 p. m., December 19, 1929, and that she had been at high school all day. She described in detail her classes and activities at school, under cross-examination by F. C. Drumm and J. B. Tucker, defense counsel. Then Drumm put on the stand A. Haven Smith, principal of the institution, who said there had been no school on that day. This blow weakened the girl's entire story, the court indicated.

The girl admitted her mother had told Meadows they wanted $5000 from him and that if he paid, there would be no prosecution.

Among character witnesses for Meadows, who testified to his good reputation, were Willard Smith, W. O. Hart, N. T. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Brown, Walter Gregg, E. H. Smith, Lucien Filpene and Mrs. Valda Foster.

NEWPORT REFINERY OPENS THIS WEEK

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 18.—It is reported that the Orange county refinery here will start operating within the next two or three days. A crew of workmen has been engaged and material is being moved in an oil contracted for to make daily runs of about 350 barrels of crude.

The operation of the refinery was arranged for by a group of independent oil producers of Huntington Beach who desire a market for their low gravity oil. The refinery has not been sold, nor has it changed hands.

Detective Cited Before Council; To Have Hearing

Joseph Bush, Santa Ana detective, last night was cited to appear before the Santa Ana city council next Monday night, to explain why he should be allowed to operate here as a detective.

The council made the citation after a caucus at which Chief of Police Howard attended and the motion was made by Police Commissioner E. G. Warner. Chief Howard stated that no charges had been made against Bush and refused to talk for publication regarding any trouble Bush might have had before the meeting next Monday night.

Bush has been operating here as a detective, city licensed, for the past several months.

EXCURSION RATES GIVEN EXTENSION

For those who have not had an opportunity for a few days' vacation so far this summer, the Motor Transit lines have announced that their Special Week-end excursion rates have been extended for the balance of the summer season, according to A. M. Thomas, local agent for the big bus system.

"The special week-end excursion fares are still in effect from this city to all points in the San Bernardino and San Jacinto mountains," remarked Thomas today, "and include such popular places as Lake Arrowhead, Big Bear Lake, Pinecrest, Crestline, Forest Home and other Mill Creek resorts, Lilywild, Keen camp and numerous other mile-high playgrounds."

"Although the regular daily summer fares are remarkably low this year, yet the week-end excursions reduce the round trip rates so that everyone can afford a couple days outing at mountain resorts, for in many instances these Motor Transit excursions are almost as low for the round-trip as the regular daily one-way fares," continued the agent.

These special week-end vacation excursion tickets are on sale and good only on Saturdays and Sundays with the return limit not later than Sunday midnight of the same week-end in which the ticket is purchased, according to Agent Thomas' advice.

The ancient capital of Siam—Ayuthia—has been hidden in the jungle for four centuries.

PLANNING BODY DELAYS ACTION ON ORPHANAGE

Plans of P. D. Bouchey to sell to the Catholic church the property at 1710 West Sixth street for the purpose of erecting and maintaining an orphanage on the property were delayed last night when the city planning commission asked for another week in which to act on the matter, and the request of the commission was granted by the council.

A petition of protest was filed with the council by residents of the street, the protest being based on the grounds that the property in this district had been sold under restriction barring Japanese and Mexicans and others than the Caucasian race, and that, if the orphanage was opened, the property would lessen in value.

The protest paper was signed by 26 names.

Attorney A. P. Nelson appeared before the council on behalf of the petitioners and stated that the council's permission to sell the property for the orphanage might not be all that was needed and would only force his clients to take the matter into court to force their rights. He declared that the council's permission to sell the property would be an invasion of the rights of his clients.

Reid Gets Lot

Request of the Reid Motor company for permission to open a used car market on the vacant lot on the southeast corner of Spurgeon and Sixth streets was granted by the council last night, after it had been approved by the city planning commission.

Mrs. M. C. Fields of 514 Spurgeon street appeared before the council and personally objected to the plan, stating that she believed that the market would lessen the value of her property nearby.

Orchestra Will Hold Rehearsal

Musicians who would like to play in an orchestra are requested to bring their instruments to the Santa Ana Music store at 420 West Fourth street at 7 o'clock tonight for the first rehearsal of an orchestra that is to be organized, it was announced today.

More than 467,000 tons of water pass over Niagara Falls every minute.

Of Birthday

When little Betty Louise Vernon celebrated her third birthday last year with a merry party, such an enjoyable affair resulted that the arrival of her fourth birthday a few days ago was heralded with another party given by her mother, Mrs. John J. Vernon, in their home at 3020 Santiago avenue.

The little guests were greeted indoors, where baskets of pink and white roses introduced the color scheme of the afternoon. After an enjoyable session here they were escorted to the pretty grounds of the time for games and contests under the supervision of Mrs. Vernon and Mrs. George Wilbur.

An interesting feature of the day came when snapshots were taken of the guests. Later the little honoree was photographed as she was seated at the large table where a birthday cake topped with rosebud candles was being received daily by Mrs. Barry commending this new plan.

Mrs. Henry W. Root of Burlington, president of the Santa Ana County Federation, writes: "Through this contact I have gained the knowledge that the affairs of the State Federation are handled in a competent and business like manner. This gives greater confidence in the present power and the increasing influence of the federation."

From the Southern district, Mrs. B. S. B. of the president of the Riverside County federation, sends this message: "I think mutual gain may be derived by direct contact of county federation with the state. It will enable the county president to get a bird's eye view of the scope of the work of the parent organization, directly and immediately."

From the Sonoma County federation, Mrs. M. R. of Santa Rosa, county president, sends greetings to the state and says: "Many club-wise women have long felt that the county presidents were the missing links in the state chain. This is no longer true, and we county presidents who are the only upper rank executives who personally meet large numbers of the state membership, are more than pleased to become messengers from the people to the leaders, whose mission is to give state-wide expression to the opinions and desires of the ranks."

At the conclusion of the bridge session, a box of correspondence cards was presented Miss Helen Mae Bower and a pretty necklace to Miss Dorothy Hatch, the two high scorers. Miss Thelma Johnson held third high and was given several dainty handkerchiefs. The hostess then surprised her cousin, Miss Mary Helen Bell, by presenting her with a small chest of drawers, as Miss Bell is leaving in the near future for Claremont, where she will attend Pomona college.

Invited to the affair were Mrs. Robert A. Graham, Mrs. Fleetwood Bell, Miss Dorothy Hatch, Miss Betty Dunton, Miss L. Hatch, Miss Thelma Johnson, Miss Helen Mae Bower, Miss Barbara Dunton, Miss Mary Helen Bell, Miss Martha Guard, Miss Dolly Boyle, Miss Willena Bell, Miss Betty Hawk and the hostess, Miss Graham.

County Presidents of Federated Clubs to Meet in Fullerton

While women of the community are completing a round of summer activities which will be followed by participation in the usual fall club routine, county presidents of federated clubs are busily engaged making preparations to attend the first executive session of the state board of the California Federation of Women's clubs to convene in September.

The first meeting of the state board will be held in Fullerton September 24. Prior to this meeting a conference of the board members will be held in Fullerton, 1404 Franklin street, headquarters of the State Federation. Mrs. Annie Little Barry will preside at both sessions. State officers, state chairmen and county presidents will have the privilege of attending these sessions.

Many communications from the county presidents are being received daily by Mrs. Barry commending this new plan. Mrs. Henry W. Farewell Party Comes
As Compliment to Oregon Guests

As Mrs. Edna Gilkey, her son, Harold, and her daughters, Grace and Helen, are planning to leave for their home in Albany, Ore., tomorrow, after spending the summer here, Mr. and Mrs. Earl P. Ladd of 231 Beverly place, entertained at a farewell party in their honor last night.

A lively evening of bunco was enjoyed by the small group of friends and relatives, and fortunate in winning high scores were Miss Helen Gilkey and Earl Ladd. Miss Helen Hendricks and Harold Gilkey scored low.

When the refreshment course was served, the hosts used a color scheme of purple and gold, and in honor of Mrs. Gilkey's birthday anniversary tiny candles lighted the tables.

Those present for the farewell party were Mr. and Mrs. John Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Jac deGroot and children, Anna and Jack, Miss Helen Hendricks, M. B. Hendricks, Miss Martha Hendricks, the honorees, Mrs. Gilkey and children; the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Ladd and daughters, Mary Bell and Dorothy.

Mrs. Gilkey is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Jockey of this city. Her son, Gordon, is a promising young artist and at the age of 19 is an instructor of art at the college in Albany, Ore. Mrs. Gilkey and her sister, Mrs. Mary Smith of Fresno, are spending today on Catalina island.

Dixon Mountain Cabin
Is Rendezvous for Many Friends

Mrs. Charles E. Dixon and her daughter, Miss Mabel Dixon, 1138 South Ross street, returned Sunday from Cedar Pine park, where they have been enjoying another delightful week in their cabin among the tall pines in the San Bernardino mountains.

During the summer, Mr. and Mrs. Dixon have been sharing their cabin with their friends, inviting various groups to participate in vacation pleasures at the mountain resort. Among those spending the past week with Mrs. Dixon were Mrs. Rena North of Balboa, Miss Margaret Johnson, Santa Ana, and Mrs. Olive Lopez, Los Angeles.

Others sharing the hospitality of the Dixon cabin last week were Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Moulton and Miss Frances Moulton and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Gould, who recently returned from Ocean Beach to make their home at Twin Peaks.

Wednesday Mrs. Dixon and her house guests visited Lake Arrowhead, spending much of the day in the Gould cabin. A heavy rainstorm at this time was described by one of the party as "serving to make the trip more interesting and the scenery more inspiring."

Informal Dinner Party
Is Pleasant Event

When Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Krebs entertained very informally recently in their home at 1101 South Parton street, giving a dinner party, they created a particularly striking effect by using a bowl of orange Los Angeles roses as the table centerpiece. Green completed the color motif.

Following the delicious dinner a variety of card games was introduced.

Those present besides the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Krebs, and their son Glenn, were Mrs. Julia Marwick of Redlands and Mr. and Mrs. Burney H. Ihmen of Long Beach.

ly from a several days' stay at their cabin "El Contento" in Forest Home.

Year Book Receives
Honorable Mention
At Convention

The year book which announces the forthcoming programs for the year of the Women's Society of the First Baptist church, has again received honorable mention at the Kansas City convention. For this time the program was for 1931 and 1932 and the book was edited by Miss Ida Nay. It is said to be the most elaborate in the history of the organization.

With Mrs. Warren Brakeman as president and Miss Lulu Minter, program chairman, a unique and interesting program has been planned for the year. Assisting on the committees are Mrs. Earl Morris, Mrs. J. P. Williams and Mrs. W. A. Atkinson.

Miss Nay also edited the 1929 and 1930 book which received honorable mention at Northern Baptist convention held in Kansas City last year. Mrs. E. A. Bell was president at that time.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Members of the Fidells class of the First Baptist church will meet Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock with Mrs. Walter Thomason on Newhope road north of West Seventeenth street. Members are requested to bring needle and thimble for work.

PLANNING FOR CHRISTMAS

Judging from the look of things, Mrs. Depression acts as if she might stay with us through the cold weather. If she does, it is just as well to face the issue and plan what you are going to do about Christmas.

You know, it's not cost of your gift but the thoughtfulness displayed in its selection that makes it a real Christmas gift, so, look about you and see what you can do against the holiday time.

Listen, and perhaps you'll hear some friends say they have failed to make some kind of jelly of which you have a goodly supply—put that kind of jelly down after that name. Someone else may just adore your pickled peaches or watermelon rind—that's another one beautifully taken care of.

Then there's your garden: if you have had glorious gladioli, harvest your bulbs with care, segregating colors when possible, and give blubs to those who love and have a garden. For other garden-loving friends plant several pots of hyacinths and narcissi, put the pots away in a cool, dry cupboard until six weeks before Christmas. Then force them rapidly towards bloom.

And don't forget aromatic herbs and what you can do with them: Why not a mixed herb seasoning? Use dried sage, a little bay leaf, dried parsley and celery tops, tiny bit of mint, thyme and sweet marjoram, which you can buy ready dried, a whole clove or two for flavor. Dry and crush fine. Put into small tins and decorate them to suit your artistic ideas. Any woman would adore getting such a gift.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Chicken Souffle

2 cups cooked chopped chicken.
2 cups cream sauce.
4 eggs, whites separated.
1 teaspoon each, chopped parsley and onion.
Salt and pepper.
1/4 cup buttered crumbs.
I do hope that you are putting up a few jars of chicken meat this summer for dishes like this one. For creamed dishes and for salads the chicken can be stretched by cooking with it a solid piece of meat or lean pork. Both kinds of meat take on the chicken flavor and when cubed can hardly be told from the real chicken.

Chicken or similar light meat can be used. Chop it, and add to two cupsful of hot cream sauce, made about as thick as you would make it for "fried chicken" gravy. Add the chopped parsley and onion to the hot chicken sauce, season it quite highly, a little cayenne if you like it. Whip the egg yolks and add to the creamed sauce, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites, pour the souffle into a shallow buttered baking dish, strew top with buttered crumbs and bake about 30 minutes, oven medium.

This souffle will serve six for dinner. The calories per person will be close to 325. Serve two green vegetables with this dish. My Green Corn Spoon Bread goes beautifully with this souffle.

More than four years ago an emergency occasion, when I had to "feed the brute" one evening after some bridge, developed a delicious and unique sandwich loaf. At that time I called it THE MIDNIGHT BITE TO EAT, and for lack of better title will call it so again this week, offering it as the free leaflet if you send in the usual stamped, self-addressed envelope.

I took this same fine old sandwich loaf to a picnic supper as my contribution, with much success if cleaning up every crumb was an indication. Get it and try it yourself.

CHESS PIE, a requested recipe, will be the subject of tomorrow's cooking lesson.

YORBA LINDA

YORBA LINDA, Aug. 18.—Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Jones have as guests this week, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Jones, of Loma Linda.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Enright are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McKinley, who are vacationing at Carpinteria.

Helen Pyeatt, of Fullerton, is spending several days with Mary Bates, arriving Wednesday with her mother, who spent the day at the Bates home.

Helen Clow celebrated her 11th birthday Tuesday with a picnic and swim at the Anaheim city park. Those present included Miss Helen, Mrs. H. K. Clow and children, Georgia and Fred, Mrs. Herman Maloney and children, Irla and Lowell, Jean Parker and Jean Chapman.

Mrs. Claude Burr, who has been a guest at the home of Mrs. Fred Burchett for several weeks, left Monday for her home in Kansas City.

The Misses Harriet and Mignonette Walker are spending two weeks in Los Angeles with their mother, while Mrs. Emma Curtin is at Sunset Beach.

"TRESPASSER" WITH SWANSON AT WEST COAST

Gloria Swanson in her first all-talking picture, "The Trespasser," will be the revival picture at the Fox West Coast theater tonight, showing with "Silence," featuring Clyde Brook.

"The Trespasser," declared soon after it was first shown throughout the country as one of the most dramatic roles in which the famous star has ever appeared, is the story of a woman who battles for her child's rights against money and power.

Miss Swanson sings two numbers in the picture, but these are overlooked because of great acting in several of the big scenes of the picture.

"Silence" shows Brook in a new type of role for him. Always he has played the role of the distinguished gentleman, or lover, in evening clothes, but in this film he is seen as a dirty, cheap thief, who rises to a great sacrifice in order to save the girl he loves. It is a strong picture, with a plot that will appeal to any audience because it will hit "home" from the start.

The revival picture will be shown between the first and second regular shows.

'TRANSATLANTIC' AT BROADWAY THURSDAY

"Transatlantic," anxiously awaited in Santa Ana, and which is believed to be the best picture booked into Santa Ana for the "August Month of Stars" program being staged by Fox theaters, will open at the Fox Broadway theater Thursday and play Friday and Saturday, it was announced today.

The story of a gentleman crook and his adventures on board a big ocean liner, bound for Europe, the picture is said to have everything in the way of entertainment. The settings are lavish and the plot one that keeps the audience in suspense throughout.

Greta Nisson, Myrna Loy and Jean Hersholt have able parts in the production and aid materially the star, Edmund Lowe.

SEADROME UNDER WAY

BALTIMORE.—It is reported the first seadrome for the proposed Atlantic air route is being constructed in Delaware bay. This floating island for the landing of aircraft is being constructed by a company headed by Edward R. Armstrong. Eight of them are to be built and towed out to sea, where they will be anchored at intervals of about 250 miles.

LOVER

Adolphe Menjou, who returns to Santa Ana after a long absence in his latest picture, "The Great Lover," which comes tomorrow to the Fox West Coast theater.

'HUCKLEBERRY FINN' WELL RECEIVED HERE

Four delightful child actors and a distinguished cast of adults bring enjoyable entertainment to the Fox Broadway theater where Paramount's "Huckleberry Finn," the second Mark Twain classic to come to the screen, is showing.

Young Jackie Coogan is again cast in the role of Tom Sawyer, in which he made such a hit in the moving picture of that name. And Junior Durkin continues his portrayal of Huck Finn. Mitzi Green and Jackie Searl are just as enjoyable in "Huckleberry Finn" as they were in "Tom Sawyer."

Fat and jolly Eugene Pallette heads the cast of adults. He portrays one of the pair of desperadoes who lead Tom and Huck into mischief. Oscar Apfel is the other badman. Clara Blandick is again seen in the role of the worried Aunt Polly, and Jane Darwell portrays the role of Widow Douglas.

"Huckleberry Finn" carries on the adventures of the real boys Mark Twain wrote about in "Tom Sawyer." Huck runs away from home to escape his father, and in the search that follows, Tom Sawyer finds him. Together, the boys plan a runaway, fall in with two funny rascals, rescue two innocent girls from the wicked designs of the badmen, and win more honor and renown.

MARY PICKFORD IN "KIKI" AT WALKER

If you are fed up with surface morals, sex plots and white-washed wickedness and really hanker after a delightful, rogues love story replete with comedy, go and see Mary Pickford in "Kiki" at Walker's State theater.

Here, if one may be paradoxical, is bright screen entertainment that children may safely take their parents to see.

It is modern, fast, funny and exhilarating from start to finish. Miss Pickford has an innocent wild abandon, a hoydenish quality, recklessness and impulsiveness and madcap charm.

"Kiki" has a high quality comedy cast, every member of which has headlined in laughter. Denny makes an excellent leading man for Miss Pickford. Margaret Livingston has zip and sparkle.

MEXICAN TRANSPORT
MEXICO CITY.—A new international air transport line, backed by the Mexican government, is operating between cities in Mexico and the United States. Mexico City is the terminal in this country and Laredo, Tex., the principal point of operation in the United States. The line gives direct service to Los Angeles, and from Laredo a connection is made to Detroit and New York.

RUNDELL BABY PHOTOGRAPHER FOR CONTEST

Larry Rundell, photographer, with offices on the second floor of The Register building has been selected as official photographer for the "Month of Stars" baby contest of the Fox theaters, which starts next Saturday.

With scores of babies believed ready to enter the contest for prizes offered by the Commercial National Bank and The Neely Dry Goods company and The Register, the contest is expected to get underway in a hurry within the next few days.

All mothers who expect to enter their babies in the contest, must have three pictures taken of the babies at the Rundell studio. This will be without charge to them. One of the pictures will be posted in the lobby of the Fox West Coast theater, one in the lobby of the Commercial National Bank and one at Neely's store.

At the end of each week, the three babies posted receiving the highest number of votes will be declared qualified and at the end of four weeks, motion pictures will be taken of the 12 children who qualify and the finals, to select the one winner, will be staged at the West Coast theater after the pictures have been shown on the screen there.

All voting will be done at the Fox West Coast theater, but there will be only two ways to receive votes. One vote will be given for every penny spent at the Neely store and 500 votes will be given for every new two months subscription to The Register. There is no other way to obtain votes.

Rundell announced today that the pictures would all be taken in daylight and not by artificial light, thereby saving any discomfort for the baby. He has had unusual success in photographing babies and his work has been highly praised throughout the city.

Babies from three months to two years of age are eligible to enter the contest.

The first prize is a $50 deposit in the Commercial National Bank, which is to be left on deposit until the baby is of college age. By that time, it has been figured, the money with interest will amount to $500. The Neely Store is giving 11 other prizes, the nature of which is to be announced later.

PLAYHOUSE OFFERS VIEW

WOBURN, Mass.—John A. Cummings, 16-year-old high school boy has built himself a house in the trees. The well constructed shanty, where he can hold picnics and even spend the night in comfort, is located high in twin oak trees near his home. The lofty house offers a view of the countryside for 15 miles around.

BRILLIANT CAST IN "THE GREAT LOVER"

The popular Adolphe Menjou and a brilliant cast will be seen tomorrow at the Fox West Coast theater in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Great Lover," film version of the celebrated stage success by Leo Ditrichstein and Fredric and Fanny Hatton.

Irene Dunne, who recently scored a sensational success in "Cimarron," has the feminine lead opposite Menjou and important roles are played by Ernest Torrence, Neil Hamilton, Hale Hamilton, Cliff Edwards, Hale Hamilton, Roscoe Ates, Herman Bing and Elsie Janssen.

"The Great Lover" tells the story of Paurel, a famous French baritone, who is irresistible to all women except the one whom he adores most.

KIDDIE REVIEW ENDS ENGAGEMENT HERE

Final appearance of the Lillian Newman Kiddie Review, which has been showing on the stage at the Fox Broadway theater during the filming of "Huckleberry Finn" is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon. The children will appear at the night performance of the picture, it was announced.

A group of 30 children, well trained in dance numbers, the additional attraction for "Huckleberry Finn" has been unusually well received here.

The government printing office is by far the largest book and job printing plant in the world.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAI COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

New Scouty was a smart young lad. To Clowny he said, "If you had some nice fat worms to feed those birds, you'd be real safe and sound. They wouldn't bite you, I am sure. Come on, some worms we will secure." And so they looked around until a lot of worms were found.

Then Clowny crawled up to the birds and said a few real friendly words. At first the birds looked very cross. They ruffled up their wings. "Now wait," said Clowny. "You will see that you need not be scared of me." He held his worms up high and said, "How would you like these things?"

Both birds grew quite excited and stuck out their bills towards Clowny's hand. He fed them till the worms were gone. My, how they liked the treat. But neither one seemed satisfied, so Clowny very loudly cried, "Hey, Tinymites run out and get them something to eat."

That simple task was shortly done and then the whole bunch had some fun. They'd hold the worms up high and watch the birds snap very quick. "Well, we have made friends," wee Copy said. And then he patted one bird's head. Another cried, "At grabbing worms those birds are surely slick."

The Travel Man had walked away and soon the whole bunch heard him say, "Come here, you lads. Here's something new, that you have never seen." The Tinymites rushed up and then were very much surprised again. "They are lizards," said wee Scouty. "And I've heard they're very mean."

"You bet they are. They often bite, but all of you will be all right, if you just let them both alone," replied the Travel Man. "Among the rocks here they are found. Just stand and watch them crawl around." A lizard crawled toward Clowny and away he promptly ran.

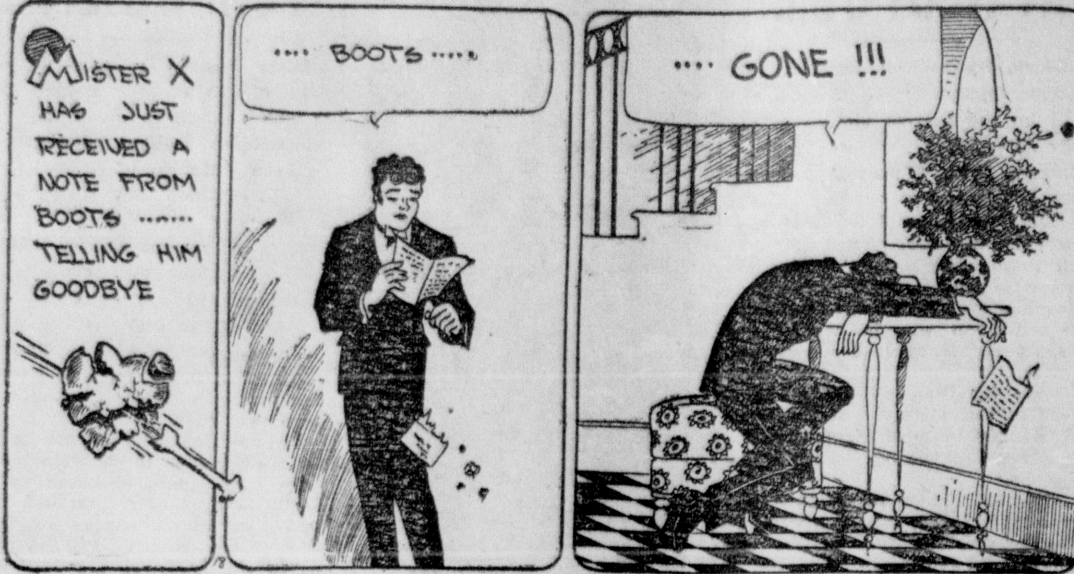

(The Tinymites have some more fun in the next story.)

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

LIES TO DOWN—What could be sweeter than shooting letter links golf while one LIES DOWN? "Nothing," say you. "Right," say we. So here is your perfect golf game.

Odd Photos of Flowers That Look Like People

Inverted orchids resemble Spanish dancers, and other blossoms take fanciful shapes of swans, elephants, doves and spiders

Washday in fairyland's Amsterdam . . . and no one needs to wonder how "Dicentra Cucullaria" got the name of "Dutchman's Breeches."

By FRANK THONE

WHEN a smitten night club Johnny bestows a gift of orchids upon the exotic lady of his preference, and pens on his accompanying card something about "Orchids for an Orchid Girl," he may be dealing out better botany than he realizes.

For if there are dancing girls who look like orchids, at least to an enamored eye, there are also orchids that look like dancing girls—to anybody's eye.

Plucked from their stems and stood on the table, orchids are the daintiest little dancers imaginable—dancers in the latest fashionable costumes, at that. Their skirts are long and concealing, tight over the slim hips and flaring widely at the bottom.

The dancers stand poised, their arms thrown up and out, their heads covered with chic cloche of a rather theatrical pattern, such as one would expect show girls to wear. One involuntarily waits for them to break their fragile repose at any moment and whirl into their dance.

But they are orchids, just orchids. They come from Panama, and the botanists at the Missouri Botanical Garden in St. Louis have been very successful in their culture. For official purposes they refer to them by their severe family name of Oncidium stipitatum, but most of the time they call them Dancing Girls, as everybody else does. For botanists are human beings, who smoke pipes and go around in their shirt sleeves, and they can see a pretty girl just as far as anyone can.

Orchids can look a great deal like dancing girls, or a variety of other things, because they are such highly specialized flowers. They have evolved one of the most astonishing methods of transferring pollen from one flower to another known in the whole plant kingdom, and in doing so have developed their petals and sepals into all sorts of unusual and beautiful forms—and hence their popularity.

IT is all done to attract insects, and even humming birds, and to maneuver them into just the right position for receiving and carrying the masses of pollen which must be transferred if the species is to survive; but incidentally the orchids make themselves into things of beauty and joys forever—especially to the florists who reap golden harvests from expensive feminine tastes.

This bizarre evolution of the floral parts in orchids, undreamed of by such severely regular cousins of theirs as lilies and tulips, expresses itself in the Dancing Girl mainly in the development of her spreading skirt. This is a single petal, grown to be the largest and showiest part of the whole flower.

Her two upflung arms are the two other petals, which have remained more nearly like those of "orthodox" flowers. Her hood-like cap is a structure that protects the pollen-bearing and seed-forming parts of the flower. All round, the Dancing Girl is a hard-working little lady, with a serious purpose in life, though her festive garb may not tell everybody about it.

But orchids can depict other things besides graceful girls. Another species forms the image of the most graceful of birds, the white swan. Even its Greek name, Cynoches, means "swan's neck"; and although this refers to one of the inner parts of the flower, the whole blossom exteriorly is a lovely picture of a swan.

AS might be expected of the swans of fairyland, these flower-birds have no sense of responsibility to gravitation. Those on the underside of the drooping stem are as unruffled as their sisters on the upper side, and the ones that must perforce stand out sideways care nothing for that. These swans of phantasy calmly regard all such matters as merely relative, and pay them no attention.

Even more lovely than the swan orchid is the dove orchid. This exquisite flower is a native of Panama and other Central American states, and also does well in the orchid houses at St. Louis and in other botanical centers. In this orchid the outer flower parts, the petals and sepals, are more orthodox in shape, and form a sort of frame or shrine around the exquisite little image at the center.

This is made up of the structures associated with the sending and receiving of pollen; it is the very heart of the life-activity of the flower.

The dancing girls all ready to break into a few graceful steps—orchids from Panama, inverted, offer perfect representations of a ballet poised on the stage.

And it has the form of a dove brooding over its nest. In every opened flower the lovely image is repeated, like a poem or a passage of music that one does not tire of hearing again and again.

It is not at all to be wondered at that the people of the countries whence it comes, strongly imbued as they are with the Latin tradition, should have called this orchid "the flower of the Holy Ghost."

Much humbler in its pretensions is an orchid genus native to America's northern woods. In this flower the lower petal, that spreads out into the skirt of the Dancing Girl orchid, is modified into a hollow, slipper-shaped sac, while three other parts of the flower, narrow and twisted, flare outward at the top like loose tistrings.

The resemblance of this flower to a slipper is so irresistible that it has entered into its name in all lands. The Indians called it moccasin-flower, and in Europe it got the name of lady's slipper. Its botanical name is Cypripedium, which means "slipper of Venus"—Cyprus was one of the numerous alternative titles of the classical goddess of love.

The lady's slipper genus is a large one, and though most of its members are content with the conventional footstep pattern some of them branch out a bit. One of the species has earned for itself the Latin surname Papilio, or butterfly, because the flower-parts that form the "strings" of the commoner slipper types are here so long and slender that they look like the antennae of an insect.

ANOTHER Cypripedium of more sinister strain is described in one of the most curious books about flowers that was ever written. Erasmus Darwin, grandfather of the famous Charles Darwin and his forerunner in evolutionary speculation, wrote a book of highly fanciful verse called "The Botanic Garden."

It is a long allegory, in which flowers are persons, and have the same standing with nymphs, gnomes and a host of other mythological folk conjured up by the old dilettant-naturalist whose more prosaic grandson was to set the scientific and philosophic world by the ears.

This flower that Erasmus Darwin tells about he had never seen, for he says as much in a footnote, and inserts as an illustration a picture of an ordinary North American lady's slipper. But this hearsay Cypripedium, described as looking like a fat-bodied, long-limbed tropical spider that frightens off visiting humming birds, moved the elder Darwin to a long flight with the muse and a very fanciful description.

But orchids are not by any means the only varieties of flowers that make imaginative mortals see insects, animals, birds and even inanimate objects in their curious adaptations of sepals, petals and stamens. Folknames and botany books alike erect monuments to such resemblances.

Every flower of the pea family is a butterfly to the botanist, for he knows that particular flower form as "papilionate"; and that, in plain Saxon, means "like a butterfly." But if he pulls a pea flower to pieces he sees different things in its separate petals.

THE broad, flat one at the top is the "banner," the two at the sides are the "wings," and the two narrow ones folded edge to edge at the bottom form the "keel." The butterfly has become a festive flying boat.

And again, among the flowers less showy than the orchids, the spider as well as the butterfly finds its mimics. All over the country, in moist places, grows the tall, grass-leaved, blue-flowered plant known as the spiderwort. This time it is not the flowers themselves that earn the name, but the clustering collar of leaves that jut out from the stem just below the flower cluster bearing at least a slight resemblance to the legs of a spider.

Much more realistic is the mimicry of a certain narrow-petaled member of the amaryllis tribe that is very common in the south, always growing with its feet in the water. The perianth parts of this flower are so exceedingly slender, and its stamens so conspicuous, that its common name of "spider lily" is inevitable.

HUMAN resemblances are not lacking either. Everybody sees faces in the common pansies of our dooryards, though some prefer to call them monkey faces rather than reflections of their own. There is another genus of flowers, with only one species common in the east but highly deployed in the west, that bears the appropriate name of "monkey-flower."

The eastern species is especially well marked. Under each of its violet-to-white hoods is a little grinning face, so pert and impudent that when you are shown it for the first time you cannot help laughing.

Botanists no less than everyday folk have seen the joke in the monkey-flower. The great Linnaeus had a good imagination, and many of his Latin names are most poetically apt. This plant he called Mimulus ringens, which means "a grinning little mimic." Several of the western species of Mimulus have become garden favorites, because of their bright color—they favor the red-yellow end of the spectrum—and the fact that they can be grown very successfully in wet or shady places.

The dove orchid . . . with a dove brooding over its nest in the center . . . called, by imaginative Latin-Americans, "the flower of the Holy Ghost."

There is one species in Yellowstone National Park that might almost be called the "geyser flower," it is found so often keeping its toes warm in the run-off springs of the park's famous hot springs and geysers.

IF you get to talking about human resemblances in flowers, no child will let you leave the subject without doing justice to the Jack-in-the-pulpit. Here it is the whole flower structure, rather than just the flower itself, that supplies the image. And to tell the truth, the image of the pulpit is much better than the picture of the preacher, if you look too closely. However, it is sufficient to satisfy the fancy of childhood.

But if you get to wandering through the spring woods there will be no end to the pictures that the flowers will show you. Where Jack-in-the-pulpit grows, not far away you will be sure to find clumps of Dutchman's breeches. And here the resemblance has no need for the easy faith of children to make it good; the grownup person in the world will admit without argument that it is wash-day in fairyland's Amsterdam. One of the most curious of plant resemblances that were more imagined than real was the case of the so-called vegetable lamb, or boramez, which early modern legend located in Tartary—a conveniently remote country, and hard to travel in even today. This creature was said to be a live lamb, bleating and struggling on top of a stalk. It reached down and cropped the herbage that grew round about, but if its stalk grew too high it had to starve to death.

The factual base for these wild tales seems to go back to the rootstock of a certain species of fern, with innumerable fine rootlets serving as the wool and half a dozen convenient stalk stumps suggesting legs, neck and tail. Such rootstalks are fairly common now in botanical museums.

There is another flower that gives children great delight whenever they get a chance to see it. The only pity is that they do not get to see it often enough, because it grows in the far north—even as far as Greenland—and comes down into this country only in the mountains.

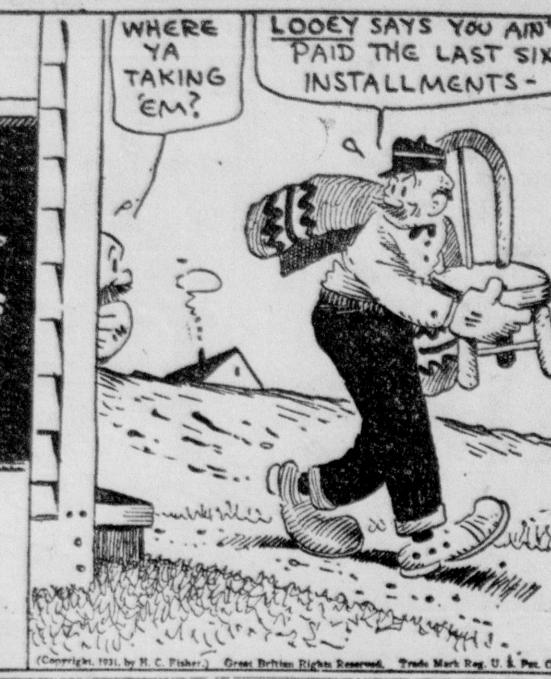

This flower is the little elephant, once known botanically as Elephantella. Its slender spire stands up a foot or so high, crowded with little pink elephants' heads sticking out toward all points of the compass, like decorations on a temple in the Javanese jungles.

DETROIT PURCHASES SEATTLE FLYCHASER

SEATTLE, Aug. 18.—(UP)—Bill Lawrence, Seattle's loose-jointed, gangling centerfielder, has been sold to Detroit. President Bill Klepper, who is in the east, advised of the deal, but did not mention terms.

Two Men Injured In Car Collision

Two men were seriously injured at 11 o'clock last night near Seal Beach when the car in which they were riding collided with another machine, driven by a woman, according to a report made to the sheriff here by the sheriff's office of Los Angeles.

Driver Pleads On Substitute Count

The injured were E. G. Vasquez and Manuel Esquivel, both of Wilmington. Both were taken to the Los Angeles county hospital, where the driver of the car is being held on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, pending decision of the Orange county sheriff filing charges against him, it was reported.

demon. Nelson is sure and steady, and a fine hitter. Merrill is weaker on defense but a "money player" who has been a thorn in Anaheim's side ever since he left that team years ago.

Anaheim's outfield has a shade the better of it for all-around efficiency.

RESERVES

Otto Brandt and Odie Maness are Anaheim's best reserves. Brandt can play anywhere. Maness can catch but primarily is an outfielder of great batting ability, probably best of any player in the series.

Ray ("Doc") Smith and Lee Fulmer are the Santa Ana reserves. They are both good fielders, dangerous hitters.

PEOPLE THEMSELVES CAN JUDGE

The editor of the Newport Beach News endeavored in an editorial the other day to impress upon his readers that the Register was making a wholesale condemnation of the people of Newport Beach because it condemned the violations of laws through the slot machines as the Register suggested that slot violations did not represent the sentiment of Newport Beach.

We maintained then and we maintain now that a jury made up in part of men who were employed in the very places where slot machines were tolerated is not the proper kind of a jury to pass upon the guilt or innocence of any man charged with operating slot machines. We maintained then and we do now that such violations are not in harmony with the people of Newport Beach and that in condemning them we are not condemning the people of Newport Beach. We have a higher opinion of the people of Newport Beach than has the editor of their local paper. It may be that we have not come in contact with the same type of citizen as a whole that he has, but the class of people with whom we have come in contact in Newport Beach, with whom we have, as he suggested, "broken bread," and with whom we are associated in the luncheon club, are the same type of citizen, as far as we have been able to observe, that we have met elsewhere in Orange county.

We still maintain, in spite of this editorial criticism, that the leaders of Newport Beach, and the better type of citizens, and we believe the majority of the people of Newport Beach, are not in favor of big gambling kings from Los Angeles and elsewhere filching the money out of the pockets of guests and visitors in Newport Beach through the slot machine route. We do not believe very many people are fooled by the attack that this editor has made upon the Register and its publisher. One is almost forced to the conclusion that he is endeavoring to defend this gambling fraternity which owns the slot machines which we were condemning. We are surprised at his actions in this as, frankly, we had a higher opinion of him, and we are still of the mind that he does not represent the sentiment of Newport Beach. Time will tell.

It should be borne in mind that this same editor of this Newport Beach paper assaulted the sheriff through his columns when the latter made the arrests, and the sheriff declares that the editor deliberately misrepresented and told untruths concerning him in his effort to arouse the prejudice of the people of Newport Beach against the sheriff because of his endeavor to enforce the law. He is now doing the same thing with the publisher of this paper and the publisher of the Register, rather than attack the people of Newport Beach, declared, as a defense for them, that he did not believe the people of Newport Beach were in harmony with this gambling outfit and would not tolerate it if they knew the real situation, and that certainly they desired to harmonize themselves with the rest of the county. In fact, we have been insisting that it is this gambling fraternity and the few people it has been able to induce to join, which have been the law violators and that the people of Newport Beach could be trusted. This evidently makes this publisher angry and he says in the language of the street that "we are all wet." We will leave it to the readers to judge who is injuring Newport Beach, the publisher of the Newport Beach paper who misrepresented the sheriff for endeavoring to enforce the law, and then in turn assaults the newspaper publisher who maintains that Newport Beach believes in law and order the same as the rest of the county, or ourselves.

It is quite significant that this editor never, to our knowledge, has said a solitary word in condemnation of any form of law violation, whether slot machine or otherwise. We are wondering if it is possible that this "fraternity" has really dictated the policy, and is dictating the policy, of this publisher, and directed the condemnation of the sheriff for the purpose of creating prejudice before the trial, and is carrying out the same policy in the condemnation of the Register which supports the sheriff.

The Register has always been, and always expects to be, a real friend of Newport Beach and its people, and it insists that it can be such without taking the cudgels up for high-binders and crooks who sit in their offices in Los Angeles and draw money through gambling machinery from the people of this county and elsewhere. We wonder if the leaders of Newport Beach will insist that a man, and Orange County, must swallow that kind of thing in order to be counted a friend of the harbor city.

We own property at Newport Beach. We are spending a month there with our family. We love and enjoy the spot, and we want to keep it so that all people will feel free to bring their families there, and we believe that this is what the Newport Beach people want in spite of the attitude of its local publisher or the gambling outfit.

We have received communications from Newport Beach citizens commending our editorial. To be sure, these communications did not come from the slot machine owners.

SHADES OF JIGGS!

Dr. Olga Knof who has just arrived in this country decries the fact that girls are brought up with so much reverent awe of the male head of the house that there is a fixation of inferiority in each woman's mind. There are not many extant specimens of the genus pater who in this country succeed in maintaining the "lord of the manor" attitude. Women over here do quite a lot for their men but they let it be distinctly understood that it is for love of the man, not because he has any particular service coming to him as "head of the house."

From remarks of other Europeans visiting this country one was led to believe that foreigners quite understood the situation of women in this country.

It would be fun to see Dr. Knof when she has an opportunity to observe the father of a family in the home where there are girls. The girls aren't rushing around getting his slippers and smoking jacket ready for his return to the "manor," and an iced drink, and making plans for a few moments of quiet repose for hard-working father. It isn't like that at all. Maybe it is because too many daughters have gone into offices and have seen some men at work; maybe just because familiarity brings contempt; maybe because they just aren't taught that father is "the lord of the manor." Mother may not go out into the world and work like her sisters but there is equality in the home, as well as in business. In fact there is equality in reverse English in many homes.

The attitude in America is, Dr. Knof, to put the best light on it, that the wife is the head of the home, the husband in the business and the man is lucky if his wife is satisfied that way.

Dr. Knof should do quite a lot of traveling, and penetrating, really. It isn't just America where woman is quite ahead of her program. Over in India the Maharajah of Kashmir has offered an acre of land to every father of a new-born baby girl.

And she should make the acquaintance of Jiggs.

As far as most housewives are concerned, swatting flies will soon become the national past-time.

THE FUTURE OF THE PHILIPPINES

It is the opinion of many that the promise made to the Filipinos when we annexed the islands of an early independence, is not far away. The islands have been far from being an asset in our national life, either economically or politically. The great majority of the leaders on the islands have never been happy under American control, although they would probably admit that their connection with the United States has done much for them.

But populated by races which in the very nature of things must be slow in amalgamating with the white race, if indeed they can ever be amalgamated, there will always be a mark of division and points of friction. Hitherto, the Republican party has been against granting independence, while the Democratic party has been in favor. But recent pronouncements by men prominent in the Republican party indicate a changing attitude on the question. Our agricultural and industrial interests fear the competition which their preferential relations to this country give them. Their immigration to this country can hardly be encouraged, even though nominally they are citizens of the United States. It is inconceivable that the present relations can continue indefinitely without friction.

Under the circumstances some form of independence, like that granted to Cuba after the Spanish war, which would safeguard the interests of the United States in the Pacific is rather to be desired. And we can see it coming.

Tears In His Eyes

Imperial Valley Press

It is a pitiful story that comes to us from a New York courtroom. A young man convicted by the government and sentenced to spend four years in Atlanta and pay a fine of $1,000.

Following his sentence the young man "left the court to arrange for filing bond with tears in his eyes," the dispatches tell us.

We are almost weeping as this is written, for the young man in the pitiful case is none other than Jack "Legs" Diamond, the only living sieve in captivity, who has been shot full of holes than a water pump has fleas, the "big shot," the boy whom the law couldn't convict and whom his erstwhile gangster henchmen couldn't kill.

Killer, gangster, racketeer, supposed to be so hard that nothing could cause him to show any emotion, Diamond cries like a baby when the law lays a not too heavy hand upon him. There is not much to be said in defense of any gangster or gunman. They are rats, but even at that the majority of them have enough of something in them to stay with the pack. Diamond didn't have even that. He "squealed" and "double-crossed" right and left, until even his own ilk would have nothing to do with him.

And then he does the baby act at the prospect of losing some of his ill-gotten wealth, and spending four years in a place where at least he will not have to dodge gangster lead. He is lucky, very lucky, that he hasn't sat in the electric chair a long time ago. It might have been gratitude that made him weep, but we would as soon think of finding gratitude in Diamond as we would icebergs at the equator.

POPULARITY

I must be a fortunate mortal;
Although wealthy I never have been,
A man stands in wait every day at my gate
And asks me to go for a spin.
My telephone rings every morning
And the people who call softly say:
"If you say it's all right I will drop in tonight
Or perhaps I might see you today."

I have driven long miles in the country,
Spending never a cent for the ride;
I have sped up and down through the streets of the town
And the elm-shaded suburbs outside,
I have lunched in a sumptuous road house
Which was strictly "for ladies and gents"
And have eaten hot dogs in a cabin of logs
At somebody else's expense.

I am stopped by comparative strangers.
Who address me as "Mister" or "Sir"
And are eager to know, when I say I must go,
What kind of cigars I prefer.
My mail has been daily increasing
And the postman observes with a smile:
"I ought to complain, but this kind of campaign Doesn't last for a very long time."

The reason for all this attention
At first I found hard to explain;
My wife often said it would go to my head
And make me outrageously vain.
So I sat down to seek out the answer,
And I thought, 'ere I'd sought very far,
That I'd happened to say to a dealer one day
That perhaps I might buy a new car.

Unbalanced Production

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER
and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Many men tell us that business fell into the present depression because of unbalanced production. That is to say, industry turned out relatively too much of certain commodities. This theory has been set forth many times in the Monthly Letter of the National City Bank of New York.

But this does not explain why business collapsed in 1929. Why not in 1925? Why not in 1927? In every year, there is unbalanced production.

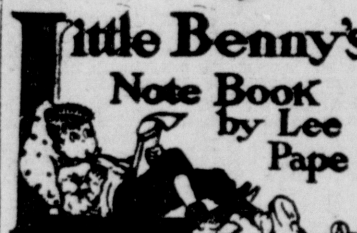

In 1925, for example, the price of rubber reached nearly a dollar a pound. Within two years, the price fell below 25 cents a pound. Here is evidence of unbalanced production. At the same time, the oil industry overproduced. So did the tanning industry. Prices and profits fell sharply. In the textile industry, too, the output was too large, in proportion to the output of other industries. Still business as a whole kept on increasing output, sales and profits.

Is there any major industry which, even in prosperous years, always avoids relative overproduction? We all know what happened, in some of the prosperous years before 1928, to coal, and coffee, and wool, and silk, and lumber.

As a matter of fact, every industry is under the constant necessity of adjusting supply and prices to constant changes in demand. In every year, some industries are in distress because of relative overproduction. But this does not necessarily cause a business depression. It did not cause a depression in 1923, nor in 1925, nor in 1927. Nor is there any reason to suppose that unbalanced production caused the slump in 1929.

As long as consumer demand is sufficient to maintain the price level of goods in general, what certain industries lose, other industries gain. Prices cannot go down in certain commodities without going up in others.

We should do all we can to maintain industrial balance. That goes without saying. But we shall never succeed in preventing business depressions as long as we fancy that the major cause is unbalanced production.

Me and pop was eating breakfast this morning and the letter carrier rang the bell with a letter and who was it for but me, being in tip-top writing and saying Dear Sir, This is the season of the year when wise hardware merchants replenish their stocks and lay in novelties to catch the eye of the autumn customer. We have been in this business for 20 years and can therefore qualify as specialists, our guiding principal being: the ultimate in service at the most conservative price. We enclose our latest catalogue, fully illustrated and with complete price lists. Hoping to hear from you, we are very truly yours, Herman Judge and Brother, Wholesale Hardware.

One there wasn't any catalog enclosed, and pop sed, it seems to be what is known in business circles as a form letter, and I sed, I bet I know who sent it to me all right, I bet Shorty Judge did, I bet he got it down at his father's office.

I bet you're rite, pop sed, and I sed, Do you think I awt to answer it, pop.

Ture under no moral obligation to, but if you like I'll dictate an answer with some good business terms in it, and you can take it down and send it to Shorty, pop sed.

G, all rite, I sed, And I got a pencil and some paper, and pop dictated the letter, being, Mr. Shorty Judge, eskwive, Dear Sir, My attention has been called to yours of the present instant, and would say that in direct order in the last analysis my overhead sales chart shows a maximum minimum of supply and demand with my contact men will endeavor to undersell in our forthcoming sales campaign, to wit as of recent date, and I take pleasure in enclosing 2 rolls of autographed barbed wire, respectively yours, B. Potts, Limited Incorporated, and beg to remain the same.

Well G, pop, I haven't got a 2 cent stamp, I sed, and pop sed, You've got nothing on me.

Meaning he didn't either, and neither did ma, so I decided not to send the letter on account of it properly not being worth 2 axial cents to buy a stamp.

DON'T PLAY HOOKEY FROM THE SCHOOL OF EXPERIENCE

"Live and learn."

These are three words which constitute a better sermon than you will hear from most pulpits.

We are tossed into this world with a set of faculties and a brain to boss them.

All around us are educational opportunities.

If, after finding out by observation how to seize and employ them—and if we have the intelligence to employ them wisely, the rest is easy.

But there seems to be in most of us a disposition to dodge hard work, to turn away disgusted from every problem that is not easily solved.

We play hookey from the school of experience, which is the great world college, and as a result we progress about half as rapidly as we should.

It has taken man untold thousands of years to achieve his present knowledge of a world which is right at his door to see and to study.

But the easiest way is not through study, but by living from day to day, without heeding the lessons of the past, without profiting by the experience of today, and without planning for the future.

Such a race as ours will, a thousand years from now, look back upon our civilization as we look back upon the age of stone.

But it can be said for us that we do "live and learn."

We are finding out more and more about this earth that offers so much to us.

We are developing exact knowledge about many things of which our great-great-grandfathers knew nothing whatever.

But we still have a long way to go.

And it will take us a needlessly long time to travel it if we continually are thinking of ways to defer tasks, to avoid hard and exhausting thought and to discover that the merely piling up of money is not necessarily evidence of a brilliant mind.

As a matter of fact, the mass that the world has gotten into as a result of the recent war indicates that the masters of finance are not as good at their jobs as we supposed them to be.

There is still as much wealth as ever, still as many people, and more education and intelligence, but there seems to be no financial Moses who is able to lead us out of the wilderness of debt into which we were plunged by four years of blind fighting.

Fortunately the doors of the school of experience are still wide open.

Work and thought are the only tuition fees we have to pay.

But we must go to the school every day and heed the lessons taught there, or all that the great men since Moses have taught us will go for nothing.

Perhaps as yet we haven't quite grown up.

Perhaps we are still children, and are fond of playing hookey.

We must get over that if we are to continue our progress.

And we shall. The story of the past teaches us that we can learn even if we now and then run out on our teachers.

OUR CHILDREN

BY ANGELO PATRI
SUNSHINE

It is stylish now to give children sunbaths. As usual there is danger of overdoing a good thing. Sunshine is a powerful force. It must be applied with caution.

The skin of a little child is as sensitive as a petal of a flower. The hot summer sun will scorch it easily. Sun burn is a painful thing. Apart from that which is punishment enough for a mistake, is the damage a burn does the child. It does no good to burn a child's skin. Everybody will at once agree to that. But sunburn seems different. If the sun did it must be right. That is not so. If you do anything too much you will suffer for it. There seems to be a double vengeance in sunburn.

When you give little children sunbaths, go carefully. Gradually introduce the treatment. Never expose a naked child to the rays of the summer sun unless he has been seasoned to it, and then be very cautious.

Cloudy days when the sun seems hidden in a gray veil are treacherous days for sunburn. One of the worst cases of sunburn I have ever seen was inflicted on a little boy who was in a boat on the sound fishing all day. No sign of the sun through the haze was to be seen all day. But the child was frightfully burned. The combination of sun and water and wind was too much. The haze steamed him.

It is well to warn boys and girls who are going to the country that they are not to expose their bodies to the sunshine too much at a time. I have known children jump off the bus at the camp and race to the field for a first sunbath. The boy with the deepest coat of tan is the proudest boy, a real Indian. If he gets a bad burn the first day he is likely to get a bad start and spoil his whole vacation. Just as well to wait a little and tan slowly.

Sunshine is good for all of us. It always has been. Summer sunshine that blisters your skin and gives you a bad headache and a sick stomach, is certainly not good for anybody. I have known many healthy child who never had a sunburn, who never had a coat of tan that made him the color of his shoes. Something less than that does just as well.

And while we are talking about it we may as well speak about the girls who wear sunsuits in which to loll about the beaches and acquire a suntan. Maybe it is all for the good of their health. I hope their health will remain good, I am sure, and that they will store up no end of it for the days to come. What I am wondering is this: Would they work as hard to acquire this reserve of health represented by suntan if they had to take their baths in private? As they should be taken, in my opinion.

I am old fashioned. I cannot be shaken from the conviction that personal privacy is desirable. That strangers ought not to be asked to bear with our too generous exposure of ourselves and our little whims. That moderation in all things, sunshine, clothes, fads included, is greatly to be praised.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the proper development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)

START ITALIAN DRIVE

On Aug. 18, 1917, the Italians started their second and most spectacular offensive against the Austrians. It was reported the most important and longest sustained assault upon the enemy in his own territory since the war began.

In the early stages of the drive Austrian casualties reached 150,000 of whom over 35,000 were known to be prisoners. The Austrians also lost immense amounts of war material, principally abandoned in the vast entrenched camps on Balzizza or captured under convoy in the Chiapovano valley.

On this date also an official report was given out saying that since the beginning of the offensive on the Russian front on July 19, 42,000 Russian prisoners had been taken by Austro-Germans.

It was likewise officially stated on this date that the armed forces of the United States included: regular army, 395,700; national guard, 311,000; reserve corps, 93,400; total land forces, 710,024; sea forces, 233,117; grand total, 943,141.
